

Things to think about when you're designing your spaceship:

What do you already know about the Krulius?

What's his role in the story?

What's his character like?

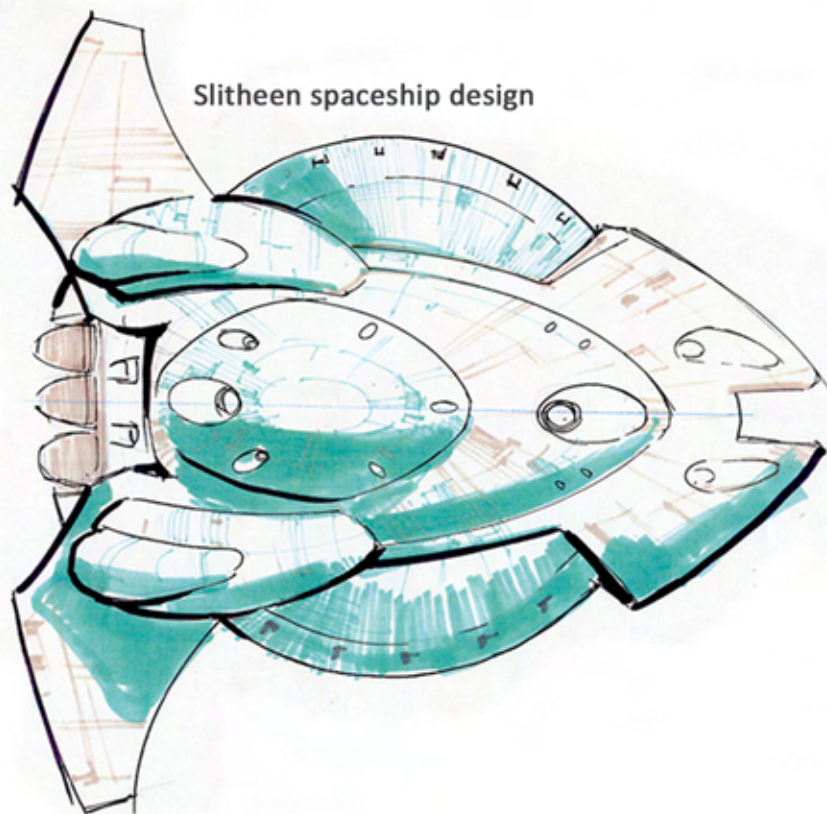

These are just a few examples of other spaceships that have been designed for different Doctor Who species and characters.

Your design can be created digitally on a computer like some of these but it doesn't have to be.

It could be a line drawing like the Slitheen spaceship design on the left...
