ACTIVITY 2

Order the conversation. Watch and check.

Right, I can’t tell if he’s witnessed anything truly traumatic. He’s not particularly chatty.

1. From what I can gather, dad left him in the car, didn’t come back. Pip went looking for him.

   Bang on.

   Farther than you’d think. A few miles.

   Yes. A couple. This is Pip’s picture of where he was this morning with his dad.

   Waves. The sound of the sea.

   How far can a four-year-old walk?

   We’ve got a hill, birds, grass, sand. I asked him what it sounded like and he did a sort of roaring sound.

   How far can a four-year-old walk?

   He’s tired, I think he’s walked quite a way.

I think when he got to the big road, he didn’t know what to do.

And has he drawn something?
ACTIVITY 3
Match. Watch and check.

1. This is where Pip was found.
2. Let’s say he could walk four miles. We can discard this bit because it’s inland.
3. That leaves us with a three mile stretch of coastline.
4. There are parking spots, here, here and here.
5. In Pip’s picture he can hear the sea, but he can’t see it. These two car parks are a bit away from the water. You can’t see the sea.
6. This one... I’m not so sure.
