PI
Week 5
January 26 - February 1 2013

A Stellar Line-Up of Sons & Daughters
Stars gather for the Sons & Daughters concert
Programme Information

New this week

A Stellar Line-Up of Sons & Daughters
Stars gather for the Sons & Daughters concert
A Stellar Line-Up of Sons & Daughters

Stars gather for the Sons & Daughters concert

Sons & Daughters, BBC One Northern Ireland, Saturday, January 26, 10.30pm

A stellar line-up of stars gather together this weekend to celebrate Derry–Londonderry’s City of Culture.

Sons & Daughters, the opening concert and first major celebration of 2013, will be recorded on Sunday (January 20) at The Venue, Ebrington, to be shown on BBC One Northern Ireland on Saturday, January 26 at 10.30pm.

Those featuring in the line-up include Phil Coulter, Nadine Coyle, Gary Lightbody and Johnny McDaid (snow patrol) playing acoustic, Paul Brady and Neil Hannon.

Also appearing will be Dana, Damian McGinty, The Priests, Gerard McChrystal, Amanda Burton, James Nesbitt, Eva Birthistle, Codetta, SOAK, Mairead Carlin, The Wonder Villains, Best Boy Grip and Maeve McGinley.

The concert will reflect on the city’s cultural achievements through music, word and song. It will also be live on BBC Radio Ulster/ Foyle co-presented by Marie-Louise Muir and Mark Patterson from 7.30pm.

Television viewers can tune in on the night as the concert will be available live on the red button. The concert can be accessed from 8pm by activating the red button and following the links to ‘Sons and Daughters’.

Nadine Coyle returns to her home city to perform at the Sons & Daughters concert this weekend. The concert will be shown on BBC One Northern Ireland, Saturday, January 26 at 10.30pm

Gary Lightbody and Johnny McDaid (snow patrol) will be playing acoustic at the Sons & Daughters concert this weekend. The concert will be screened on BBC One Northern Ireland, Saturday, January 26 at 10.30pm

Multi award-winning singer/songwriter and musician Paul Brady will be one of those taking to the stage for the Sons & Daughters concert to be shown on BBC One Northern Ireland, Saturday, January 26 at 10.30pm