NCEM instrumental composers awards 2011

Fretwork at the 2010
York Early Music Festival

This prestigious national award is for young composers (up to 18 years and 19 – 25 years) living in the UK.

We are delighted to be working this year with the viol consort Fretwork – internationally acclaimed for their work with composers including Orlando Gough, George Benjamin and Sally Beamish – and specialists in weaving together early and contemporary musical ideas.

The winning entries will be performed by Fretwork on 21 December at Kings Place, London and recorded for broadcast by BBC Radio 3. Expressions of interest must be registered with the NCEM by Friday 24 June with completed scores received by Friday 16 September. The Award will be judged in York on Tuesday 25 October.
