

BBC DAB radio transmitters

BBC local and Nations radio services on DAB digital radio are transmitted by commercial broadcasting operators. In some areas there is not yet a local DAB service on air, so not every BBC station is currently available on this platform. This is because the BBC's digital multiplex is already used to full capacity for BBC network services.

The list of services below includes the multiplex channel number and multiplex operator. Some BBC local radio services are not yet available on DAB because they are in areas where a Commercial and Local multiplexes have not yet been launched or licensed by Ofcom (see the external links panel).
