Approximate distance: 5.5 miles
A circular walk around the ‘Picturesque’ Hafod Estate in the Ystwyth Valley passing woodland gorges, waterfalls and follies.

1. Hafod car park
52.34737° N, -3.8096° W
The first section of the walk followed the original Lady’s Walk, marked as a blue route calling in at Hafod Church on the way.

2. Hafod Church
52.34686° N, -3.80928° W
Fire destroyed the church in 1932, damaging a 16th century Flemish stained glass window and a commemorative marble statue by Sir Francis Chantrey.

3. Peiran Falls
52.34642° N, -3.80731° W
These impressive falls drop down in two sections and can be fast flowing after a decent downpour. Further on are the remains of a stone viewing shelter.

4. Mrs Johnes’ Garden
52.34235° N, -3.81164° W
The former flower garden which dates from 1786 is currently being restored after being in a state of disrepair for many years.

5. Following the river Ystwyth
The landscape opens up nicely along this next section with wild flowers and heather lining the river banks and fields to your right.

6. View point over the river
52.34137° N, -3.82082° W
Stop at a view point and seating area overlooking the river to admire the views and valley you’ve just walked through.
7. The Hafod mansion
52.34309° N, -3.82284° W
During Johnes’ time the mansion consisted of an impressive two-storey building. Later additions included stables, offices, an octagonal library and 160 ft long conservatory.

8. Alpine Bridge
52.34061° N, -3.82213° W
Before crossing the bridge, follow a small trail down to the right and you’ll discover what used to be an old cylindrical ice house for the mansion.

9. Rustic Bridge
52.34017° N, -3.81934° W
This ornate fairytale wooden bridge lies in the rock strewn Bwlchgwallter Valley, which is full of cascading waterfalls and green mosses.

10. View point
52.33956° N, -3.82484° W
On top of this small hill you’ll find sweeping views over the winding river valley below with the old mansion fields to your right.

11. Mossy Seat Falls
52.33952° N, -3.81969° W
Standing on the narrow wooden bridge, you’ll be rewarded with a great view of the waterfalls where a seat covered in moss once stood.

12. Allt Dihanog tunnel
52.33980° N, -3.81757° W
The path has literally been cut into the rock to create a sizeable tunnel for you to walk through. Follow a long section of path through the woods until you reach ancient beech woods. At Pant Melyn turn right and follow signs for the Cavern Cascade.
13. Cavern Cascade
52.33883° N, -3.79982° W
This rock-cut tunnel runs straight then slightly left to reveal an amazing view of a waterfall cascading down in front of the tunnel. Take care when entering and exiting the tunnel.

14. Dologau Bridge
52.34399° N, -3.80557° W
Beneath the bridge, the Nant Gau and the Ystwyth merge. Follow the green route for the Ystwyth Gorge walk across a wooden footbridge on the right.

15. Chain bridge
52.34172° N, -3.81074° W
Just after the ‘Gothic Arcade’ you’ll arrive at a wonderfully wobbly, chain bridge spanning the gorge. Head up into the pine woods following the green route.

16. Pont Newydd above Peiran Falls
A wide track takes you through the pines passing the ruined Pont Newydd above Peiran Falls. Cross over a stream via a narrow wooden footbridge.

17. Back up to the car park
Follow the old carriage drive to the right and join the blue route. The path leads back up the hill to the car park passing Hafod Church.
