

Episode 6: What's Going On?

Amanda: No, it's not that at all...I just don't feel up to partying...

Why won't Amanda tell Daisy what her plans are? What is her secret?!!! Come back next week to find out!

Feel up to

Meaning: If you feel up to doing something, it means that you want to do something, or feel enthusiastic or excited about doing it. It is often used with the negative don't, meaning that you don't want to do the activity, or you don't feel well enough to do it.

Grammar: This verb needs an object (often verb-ing). It cannot be separated from its particles.

He didn't feel up to meeting his new colleagues
He didn't feel up to the meeting
He didn't feel up to it

~~He didn't feel meeting his new classmates up to~~
~~He didn't feel up meeting his new classmates to~~
He didn't feel meeting them up to
~~He didn't feel up meeting them to~~

Example sentence: If we all feel up to it, we could go hiking next weekend.

Synonyms: feel like, want to, would like to, fancy, be inclined to (formal).
