Stand up, move around the classroom, and ask everyone in the class five questions, on any subject. Make notes of their answers.

Then sit down and make sentences about the questions you asked, and the answers your classmates gave you.

For example: "I asked Anna if she had done the homework, and she said that she had forgotten about it."

Then make sentences about the questions which your classmates asked you, and your answers to their questions.

For example: "Marco asked me what time I got up this morning, and I told him that I'd got up at seven o'clock."
