INT. NUMBER TEN CORRIDOR/MALCOLM’S OFFICE - MORNING

MALCOLM TUCKER, government director of communications, is arriving early. He's on the phone. Passes a CIVIL SERVANT.

MALCOLM
You're in Mark Hadley's office, yeah?

CIVIL SERVANT 1
Yes.

MALCOLM
I need to see him.

Another CIVIL SERVANT hands Malcolm a CD. Without breaking flow Malcolm raises an eyebrow, what's this?

CIVIL SERVANT 2
Monitoring. Simon Foster on The PM Programme. Wonky Ron on Farming Today.

CIVIL SERVANT 2 walks off.

Malcolm starts to walk through to his office. Malcolm reaches his office. His assistant SAM is there. He hands her the CD and she puts it into a CD player and it starts playing.

MALCOLM
Well, what are you waiting for son, a fucking sex-change?

Civil Servant 1 hurries away.

Malcolm starts listening to the recording of Simon on the radio.

MALCOLM(CONT’D)
So, Sam. What’s the dynamic Simon Foster, going to wow us with?

SIMON
(v/o on radio)
...and of course the big one is diarrhoea, which is a major health issue in these countries.

MALCOLM
Diarrhoea? C'mon, Simon. You’re International Development. Talk about food parcels. Not arse-spraying mayhem...

SAM laughs.
SIMON (V.O.)
And so if we can tackle the easy things, like diarrhoea.

MALCOLM
He said it again. what is this? The Shitting Forecast?

EXT. TOBY & SUZY’S FLAT – MORNING/INT. MICHAEL’S FO OFFICE – MORNING

It’s busy at the Foreign Office. SUZY is in her boss Michael’s office, getting lots of documents, folders etc ready. She’s on the phone to TOBY, who’s heading out of their flat.

INTERCUT PHONE CALL:

SUZY
You okay? First day at the new department? You’ve got that thing from the SMF you wanted to show them?

TOBY
Oh yeah. Got my policy papers. Got my packed lunch. And my comfort blanket - which is a rug stitched full of heroin.

SUZY
Have a good day. Call me if you need help, yeah?

TOBY
Cool. Is Michael still in Zurich with Fatty?

SUZY
Back this morning. Michael says Fatty’s in a bad mood. He’s got water retention.

TOBY
Christ. I wouldn’t want to be around when that blows. I can probably organise some spare tents for the flood victims. D’you know, Fatty’s the first Foreign secretary to have really understood globalisation by physically achieving it.

Toby heads off. He's feeling chipper. It's a new dawn, is it not?
JUDY
Mark, are you co-ordinating that millenium goals press release?

MARK
Yes.

JUDY
Well co-ordinate it better.

MARK
Yes, can do.

JUDY
Is that the Minister? Bloody nail - has anyone got a nail file?

INT. DFID OPEN PLAN OFFICE - MORNING

SIMON is arriving with JUDY. Simon carrying his red dispatch box. Simon’s worried.

SIMON
Have we heard anything from Malcolm about last night’s interview?

JUDY
No not yet.

SIMON
Perhaps he didn’t hear it.

JUDY
Or maybe he’s dead.

SIMON
(with a degree of genuine hope)
He might be dead. He might have had that massive stroke we’ve all been waiting for. It’s in the post.

JUDY
He’ll want you to row back from the ‘unforeseeable’ thing on Question Time tonight.

SIMON
Fine, I can row. I rowed for my college. Well, I was a cox. On Question Time, you know the funny question they always ask at the end?
JUDY
Yes?

SIMON
Can we prep that now? I want to shine on the funny question, cos I’m a funny guy. With a light touch.

INT. MALCOLM’S OFFICE – MORNING
Malcolm and Sam still listening to Simon’s interview.

SIMON (V.O.)
..really kick the diarrhoea ball into touch. Then, hopefully, that will strike another blow in the war against preventable diseases.

INTERVIEWER (V.O.)
You mention the word war there...

MALCOLM Steady Eddie!

SIMON (V.O.)
(oh shit)
...against preventable diseases, yes.

INTERVIEWER (V.O.)
All the evidence now points to a US military intervention in the Middle East. Is that your view?

MALCOLM

SIMON (V.O.)
Well it really isn’t for me, Eddie, to announce the Prime Minister’s position on any...

MALCOLM
Bat it away! You’re English, cricket’s your thing! Cricket and incest, come on!

INTERVIEWER (V.O.)
But a personal opinion -- as a man who deals with the fallout from foreign policy on a daily basis?

SIMON (V.O.)
Well, personally, I think that war is unforeseeable.
MALCOLM
No. You don’t. You were given the briefing note on this, you useless cock-bun

INTERVIEWER (V.O.)
Unforeseeable?

SIMON (V.O.)
(shit again)
Yes.

MALCOLM
(getting up, calling on his mobile)
Sam, I’m away to International Development to pull Simon Foster’s hair.
(on phone)
Yeah. He did not say that. Okay? No, you may have heard him say that, but he didn’t actually say that...and that’s a fact.

And he’s gone.

EXT/INT. DFID - MORNING/INT. MICHAEL’S FO OFFICE - MORNING
Toby is walking towards DFID. As he nears the building he finds himself next to Malcolm, who is heading in too. Toby is on the phone.

INTERCUT PHONE CALL:

TOBY
Are you going to keep ringing me up every two minutes, because you’re starting to remind me of my mum. And that could lead to all sorts of erectile dysfunction.

Suzy is still in the FO office.

SUZY
I’m just checking whether you put last night’s lasagne in the fridge.

In the FO office, MICHAEL arrives. He has a small suitcase and a paper bag. He holds this up.

MICHAEL (mouthing) Croissants!

Back with Malcolm, Toby close by. Malc’s on the phone.
MALCOLM
No. You're fine to go ahead and print that. It's lies, you'd be lying, but go ahead. He did not say unforeseeable. No he did not. Oh, just before you go -- when I tell your wife about you and Angela Heaney at the Blackpool conference...would email be better? Or a phone call?

Toby is now next to Malcolm in a lift). Malcolm becomes aware of him.

TOBY
No, it's fine, it's in the fridge. I put some clingfilm over it.

In the FO office, Michael switches on some classical music.

SUZY
Why did you put clingfilm on it?

TOBY
To keep it fresh.

Malcolm starts dialling on his phone.

SUZY
It's in the fridge, that'll keep it fresh.

TOBY
No, but it still might dry out.

MALCOLM
(into phone)
YOU FUCKING RELAX!

Michael hands Suzie a croissant.

MICHAEL
(knowing Toby is on the other end of the line)
Still slightly warm. That's how I like my women as well.

SUZY
Clingfilm is carcinogenic, Toby.

TOBY
No it isn’t. That’s a myth. Clingfilm is perfectly safe.

Malcolm now eyeing Toby with suspicion/contempt -- who is this dick? Toby tries to smile, lowers his voice, embarrassed.
They wouldn’t sell clingfilm if it gave you cancer. Clingfilm doesn’t give you cancer.

SUZY
I didn’t even know we had clingfilm in the flat. Oh, you need more eczema cream. You were a bit flakey again.

TOBY
I’ve got to go. I’ll speak to you later.

He rings off. Smiles again at Malcolm. Gestures to the phone and mimes ‘she’s mental’. Malcolm gets his guy on the phone.

MALCOLM
James! Right -- Simon Foster?

INT. SIMON’S OFFICE - MORNING

Simon and Judy are looking through newspapers/press cuttings.

JUDY
There’s this guy who bought a south sea island. They might ask "If you had to spend the rest of your life on a desert island with someone, who would it be?"

SIMON
Well, I can’t say ‘my wife’ because I haven’t got one, and I can’t say ‘my girlfriend’ because I don’t have one of those either.

JUDY
Don’t say all that though. It’ll look desperate.

SIMON
No, I’m just telling you.

JUDY
And don’t say Mandela, that’s rubbish. And don’t say Keira Knightley, you’ll look like a pervert.

MALCOLM
What?
JUDY
Malcolm’s coming to see you.

SIMON
Shit. He’s still alive. When’s he due?

Malcolm walks in with Toby sheepishly behind him.

MALCOLM
Now. And don’t say you weren’t prepared because I rang ahead.

Now then, Simon, as the late great Nat King Fucking Cole said, ‘Unforeseeable, that’s what you are.’

INT. MICHAELS FO OFFICE - MORNING

MICHAEL is having croissants with Suzy. The music is still playing.

Suzy hands him a folder.

SUZY
This is the latest from the...sorry, is it alright if I turn this down a bit?

She turns the music down.

SUZY (CONT'D)
The latest from the State Department for the American meeting. I gather Fatty won’t be attending.

MICHAEL
Hey, you. He’s the Foreign Secretary. So please address him by his full title. The Right Honourable Sir Jonathan Manboobs-Smith

INT. SIMON’S OFFICE - DAY / DFID OPEN PLAN OFFICE - DAY

MALCOLM is giving SIMON a controlled-anger dressing down. Judy and Toby are outside in the open plan office.

SIMON
He asked me for a personal opinion Malcolm.

MALCOLM
He asked you? Oh, he asked you, that explains it.

(MORE)
MALCOLM (CONT'D)
What if he’d asked you to sing a racist song and give him your PIN number and shit yourself, would you have done that? He’s an interviewer, not a fucking hypnotist.

SIMON
Yeah, funny, Malcolm, I know he’s not a hypnotist. But, I was just being honest about the prospect of war. If I’ve got doubts...

MALCOLM
Doubts? Why didn’t you say? I’ll call up, we can get all our aircraft carriers to idle off Madagascar while you fiddle about with your wee moral compass.

INT. DFID OPEN PLAN OFFICE - DAY

Toby’s with Judy.

JUDY
So you’re...whatever your name is, Dan, the new advisor?

TOBY
Toby.

JUDY
Right. Just most of you lot tend to be called Dan, or Danny so it's always worth a punt. OK, hello. As you know, I'm Judy Molloy, Civil Service Director of Communications for International Development.

They shake hands.

TOBY
Is this a normal morning, or...?

Judy’s not got time for questions.

JUDY
Okay, I’ve got a meeting in two minutes. And the minister was rubbish in last night’s interview.

TOBY Rubbish?

JUDY
It’s a technical term.
INT. DFID SIMON’S OFFICE. DAY.

Back inside Simon’s office

SIMON
But war is -- basically unforeseeable isn't it?

MALCOLM
That is not our line, alright? Walk the fucking line. Look. We've got Karen Clark over from Washington, okay? We've got the US National Security Advisor's main guy coming. Yeah? We've got enough Pentagon goons here for a fucking coup d'etat. This is not the time to send out a signal like this in some personal fucking sodcast.

JUDY and TOBY come in.

JUDY
Minister, this is Toby.

MALCOLM
We haven’t got time love, fuck off.

JUDY smiles at MALCOLM, and doesn't fuck off.

SIMON
Hey Toby. Glad you could join us. Bit of an odd morning, but 'Welcome to the madhouse!' I apologise for Malcolm.

MALCOLM
Don't apologise for me. You should apologise for you.
(to Judy)
Did I just tell you to fuck off and yet you’re still here?

JUDY
That’s correct.

MALCOLM
(to Toby)
If I tell you to fuck off what do you do?

TOBY
Fuck off?

MALCOLM
You're learning fast. Okay, weird little foetus boy, go away. Fuck off.
TOBY
Is this a real fuck off?

MALCOLM
Yes. Fuck off.

Toby fucks off. We can see him outside, wandering around, not knowing what to do with himself.

SIMON
We were thinking, weren’t we Judy, that I could row back on Question Time tonight.

MALCOLM
No, You’re not going on Question Time tonight. You’ve been disinvited.

SIMON
Why?

MALCOLM
Because they ask fucking questions on Question Time. And you’re no good at questions. If it was Fumbling, Off-Message Shit Fucking Answer Time, you’d be our main guy. But it’s not.

JUDY
Sorry, why wasn’t I told about this?

MALCOLM
Why should I tell you about this?

JUDY
Because it’s a scheduled media appearance by this department’s Secretary Of State and it therefore falls within my purview...

MALCOLM
Your purview? Where do you think you are sweetheart, in some Regency costume drama? Well allow me to pop a jaunty little bonnet on your purview and ram it up the shitter with a lubricated horse cock.

JUDY
Malcolm, your swearing doesn’t impress me. My husband teaches in Tower Hamlets and believe me, those kids make you sound like Angel Lansbury.

MALCOLM
(to Simon, lads’ chat)
She’s married? The poor bastard.
SIMON
But...okay, putting Judy's lubricated horse cock aside for a moment
(Judy walks out)
Are you saying that I’m now not allowed to make any media appearances?

MALCOLM
No, not until we can trust you to keep to the line.

SIMON
But I was going to keep to the line: “I don't actually think war is unforeseeable.”

Malcolm's looking out of the office, monitoring Judy's movements. She’s flashed up on his radar. He's tracking her.

MALCOLM
What is it then?

A beat.

SIMON
Is it...I don't know? Foreseeable? No.

MALCOLM

SIMON
Right. So not inevitable, but not...evitable.

Malcolm leaves the office. Toby is still hovering.

MALCOLM
(calling back to Simon)
Okay, you need to work out the line.
(to Judy)
That includes you, Jane Fucking Austen with the strap-on. Oh, and put the sniff out there that the next time the BBC ambushes a Minister with a war question we’ll drop a bomb on them.

JUDY
I can't do that. That's political, that's not in my...
MALCOLM

Purview? OK, darling. You scuttle off back to fucking Cranford and organise the tea and cake and horse cocks. (TO TOBY) You, Ron Weasley -- you do it.

Malcolm heads out. Mark Hadley spots his go.

INT. FO MICHAELS OFFICE - DAY

Suzy and Michael in Michael’s office. Suzy’s getting documents together for the big meeting. Michael’s at his computer, on the phone. Classical music still on.

MICHAEL
(on phone)
I want the Angolan charge d’affaires on the phone. Well STOP him playing football.

SUZY
I’m just giving Toby a quick ring, is that OK?

Suzy dials.

INT. DFID/INT FOREIGN OFFICE MICHAELS OFFICE

Toby is at DFID, finishing another call. His mobile starts ringing.

Toby checks the phone. Sees it’s Suzy -- Christ, not her again, I’m a bit busy here. He answers.

INTERCUT PHONE CALL:

TOBY
Hiya. You do know this is the third time you’ve rung? Are you on a new tariff?

SUZY
So? How’s it going? You found the bogs yet?

TOBY
Yeah. Hard. But, no, good. All a bit manic. It was never like this at Agriculture. People tend not to swear so much about wheat.

SUZY
(to Michael, re. the music)
Can you turn that down a bit?
(MORE)
SUZY (CONT'D)
(to Toby)
Look, I've got a leg up for you. We could get Simon over for a three o'clock with Karen Clark?

TOBY
Right - Karen Clark from...did she go round Britain in a coracle for leukemia?

SUZY
Karen Clark, US Assistant Secretary of State?

TOBY

SUZY
Exactly. I'm giving your big dick a swing right?

TOBY
Uh hu.

SUZY
Why?

TOBY
(uncomfy with this private motivational motto)
Because I am a big swinging dick.

SUZY
Exactly. Remember that, okay. I'm giving it a big shove. I ought to go. I love you.

Judy's hovering nearby.

TOBY
Likewise. Affirmative on that.

MICHAEL calls over to Suzy from the other side of the room.

MICHAEL
Meat! Tell Dick Swing, International Man Of Mystery that Simon's only going to be meat in the room. Don't get his hopes up.

SUZY
Yeah, so you know -- Simon, between us, he's just going to be meat in the room.
TOBY

Meat?

Judy, nearby, hears this.

SUZY
(waving him away)
Yeah. The Americans don't feel they're getting a real meeting unless there's thirty of you on each side.

INT. DFID - DAY / INT. SIMON'S OFFICE - DAY

Judy is hovering as Toby finishes his call.

JUDY
So, quick tour.

She starts walking away. Toby follows.

TOBY
Um, I do just need to...

JUDY
Over there...that's Mike's patch. Leave Mike to it. He knows what he's doing. Don't you Mike?

MIKE What?

JUDY Exactly.
(as they walk on)
He's hopeless.
(checks phone)
And that's the end of the tour. I've got to go.

TOBY
Look, I understand your hostility to new wood coming in..

JUDY
There's a lot of really important people you need to know about, but I haven't got time.

But she's gone. Toby heads over to Simon's office. The door's open. He pops his head in.

TOBY
Hey, boss.
SIMON
Toby, hi. Sorry about earlier -- Malcolm. He’s a bit of an... alpha male, isn’t he?

TOBY
Yeah, he’s a complete and utter alpha male.

SIMON
Ha. Yes. He’s the biggest alpha male I’ve ever met.

TOBY Yeah.

A beat.

SIMON
I like the fact that we’re not saying ‘cunt’.

TOBY
I like that too. Look, I’ve managed to get you into the big meeting at the Foreign Office this afternoon.

SIMON
The Karen Clark meeting? Shit, really? Sure. How did you...?

TOBY
Sheer bloody hard work.

Judy walks past. Simon calls out.

SIMON
Hey Judy.

She comes in.

JUDY
Hello?

SIMON
Tobes here has got me into the big Karen Clark meeting.

Judy looks at Toby. She heard the ‘meat’ conversation.

JUDY
Wow. Yeah, the Big Meet. How are you spelling that, by the way?
So, do you want to do your job and, you know...? as PRESS Officer, have PRESSING things to do...

Sure. I’ll tell the press.

She leaves.

Simon, Toby and Judy drive along Whitehall in their car.

An awkward silence.

Judy looks at Toby. She knows Simon’s just off to be meat.

(Toby, off Judy's look)
Just, maybe, might be best not to get too excited. It might be that their guys muscle in and have the lion's share of the talk time.

Yeah. It might be like that.

Simon, Toby and Judy are going through security. Toby is nodding sycophantically at everything Simon says.

I feel a bit like, you know, when you get English actors cast in a Woody Allen film?

He walks through a security arch. Toby goes through and joins him.

Judy comes through.

I was just saying I feel like an English actor in a Woody Allen film. But some of them do shine, don’t they? I can't think of any now.
There are three distinct US delegations. KAREN CLARK from the State Department is surrounded by ten or so aides and functionaries, security people and assistants. (Including Chad and LIZA one of Karen's senior aides.) Then there is Bob Adriano'S gang of advisors, smaller but sitting separately.

Next to them is a Pentagon delegation, including uniformed members of all three services.

Lots of hubbub.

SUZY leads SIMON, TOBY and JUDY in, and shows them to their seats.

They're as far away from the US delegation as it's possible to be, and Simon's seat is actually behind a pillar. Suzy goes off to join Michael and the Foreign Office delegation near the front. Suzy looks over to Toby, uses her hands to make mock binoculars, as if to say, 'you're very far away, look how close and therefore important I am'.

SIMON
No-one will hear me if I say anything.
How's your view? Can we swap?

Simon and Toby swap seats, but Simon can still barely see anything.

SIMON (CONT'D)
(to Judy)
Can I swap with you?

Simon and Judy swap seats.

The meeting is now underway. We're with Karen Clark.

KAREN
We all agree this is a very tough time, but I don't want a consensus to form around the premise that conflict is necessarily the primary option at this point.

Back with Simon, Judy and Toby. Simon still straining to see.

SIMON (CONT'D)
No, this is worse. Swap back.

Simon and Judy swap seats again.
Back with Karen. She's holding up a paper in a red folder.

KAREN
This paper, authored by one of my aides, Liza Weld. You don’t mind me fore-grounding this do you Liza?

Liza reacts. Her paper? In a big meeting. Is this good or bad?

KAREN (CONT’D)
Illuminates the logistical factors we face. She highlights a number of reasons why, in practical terms, we can’t envision a theatre deployment for twelve months.

BOB ADRIANO
Although not everyone might agree with the assumptions made in that paper.

KAREN
Really - such as what?

BOB ADRIANO
Let’s not stray into the tar pit of detail Karen. The committee feels a much quicker deployment is possible.

KAREN
Which committee?

BOB ADRIANO
(covering)
This has been discussed in a number of committees. I think Chad you’re getting a good flow of information on this?

KAREN
Sorry Bob, I didn’t catch the name of the committee?

ADRIANO
As I said Karen a number of committees. If I said one committee...

KAREN
You did.

MICHAEL
If I can interject here, I’m aware we’re pushed for time so if you’ll excuse my hideous disfigurement of the English slash American language I’d like to move us on agenda-wise.

(MORE)
Our next item is international relief co-ordination.

Karen is conferring with Liza, Adriano with his guy.

KAREN
Have you heard of this committee?

ADRIANO
What’s this Liza Weld paper?

Simon is watching, feeling the meeting is passing him by.

SIMON
(to Judy and Toby)
Should I say something? She invited me, I should say something. If you don’t say something in the first 10 minutes, you can end up not saying anything at all.

JUDY
I don’t know whether you should say anything.

SIMON
I’m saying something ... I think I’m going to try saying something.

Simon goes to put his hand up, Toby maybe puts a calming hand on his hand. They look at one another. Has Toby crossed a line?

KAREN
Look - I just think it’s worth noting that Ministers in The UK Government, (Liza whispers - Simon’s over there) such as our colleague here ...

SIMON
(pleased)
Is she talking about me?

KAREN Simon Foster ...

SIMON
She’s talking about me!

KAREN
Has made it clear that for them currently war is unforeseeable. So there can’t really be said to be any consensus on the war question. Right Simon?
She might be looking in the wrong direction, she doesn’t know who this ‘Simon’ guy is, she’s just read the quote off a piece of paper. The answer comes from the other side of the room.

SIMON
Well, yes, I mean, that’s what I said. And I stick to what I said.

At this, one of Karen’s press people and one of Bob Adriano’s both rush out to start spinning the line on Simon’s comments.

SIMON (CONT’D)
But that doesn’t mean that what I said won’t ever change ...

MICHAEL
(cutting in)
I wonder if there aren’t some area of mutual agreement we can’t rattle through here and see how much time we have at the end for this discussion?

Suzy comes round the back of the meeting all smiles and hands Judy a note with a smile.

JUDY
Thanks.

She opens the note it reads, ‘Simon is acting like a massive tit. Stop him.’

SUZY
Is that all fine?

JUDY
That’s all fine. Thanks for that.

SUZY Thanks.

JUDY
(whispered)
Toby can you let the Minister know the Foreign Office think he’s acting like a massive tit and they’d rather he stopped?

TOBY
(whispered)
Er? Yeah? Maybe you should. I wouldn’t want - you know Chinese Whispers - to send the wrong message through?
JUDY
(whispered)
It’s a simple message, ‘stop being a massive tit’. It’s really a political message I think it’s best for you to deliver it.

TOBY
Okay.

Toby whispers something in Simon’s ear. Simon doesn’t look pleased. Karen is still talking to the meeting. Simon shuts up. He’ll have this out later.

INT. FOREIGN OFFICE BALLROOM - DAY

The big meeting is breaking up. Simon is annoyed, leading Judy and Toby out of the room and into any private space he can find - they back into a huge huge ballroom

SIMON
Come here - we need to talk
(they go into the massive room, look around)
What do you mean stop being a ‘tit’?
In what way was I being a tit? Why am I even over here if I’m not meant to say anything?

JUDY
You were just meat in the room, Simon.

SIMON
'Meat in the room'? Oh for fuck’s sake Judy. I took an hour out to come over here and be room meat?

TOBY
But you know you’re a prime cut, you’re not - offal.

SIMON
Great, I'm not liver. What was I, tit meat?

INT. FOREIGN OFFICE LOBBY - DAY

We're with Karen Clark's delegation who have just walked downstairs from the meeting room into a ground floor lobby area. KAREN is talking to LIZA, her right-hand woman.
KAREN
The committee. That committee Bob Adriano dropped on us just then, what is that? Get me on it.

LIZA
Which committee?

KAREN
I don't know. Linton must have set up a war committee.

LIZA
Can he do that?

KAREN
Should he do that? No. Of course not. Would he do that? Yes.

LIZA
So, listen, about my paper -

KAREN
Don’t thank me, it’s good work, you deserve the credit.

LIZA
I just wondered if - (it could be anonymous? It’s not something I authored, I was just tasked with writing it.)

KAREN
And get me on that committee.

LIZA
The one we don’t know about?

TOBY, SIMON and JUDY are above them standing round a circular viewing area that looks down on the lobby.

The UK and US delegations are aware of each other, throwing furtive glances each other's way.

KAREN
Whichever committee they don’t want me to be a member of, I want to be a member of that. It's a confused Groucho Marx.

LIZA
Okay. Right.

Chad arrives. Karen talks to someone else.
CHAD
Hey Liza. Your paper got a major citation. You must be psyched Karen brought it up.

LIZA
She...that was her call. I didn't know it had been that widely read.

CHAD
Yeah, it's getting read. It's truthy. It's factish. In many regards it is a great paper. Up till page nine. Pages nine through 35? Horror Show. You could not write anything that clashes more violently with the current climate. You are like the woman from The Omen, you've given birth to a demon and it's going to kill you.

LIZA
You probably identify with the kid from The Omen right? Lonely, unloved. Deviant.

CHAD
I am so glad I am not you.

LIZA
You're an only child, right?

CHAD
So what? My parents were older parents. You bring this up whenever you run out of arguments.

Liza walk off, over to Karen.

INT. FOREIGN OFFICE LOBBY - DAY

Karen is back, huddled up with Liza.

KAREN
My teeth hurt. I think the veneers are chipped. Do they look chipped.

Liza stares into Karen's mouth.

LIZA
I'm not sure. Have you got any painkillers?

TOBY (shouting)
Hey Liza!
LIZA
Oh ... Hi ... hi?
She knows him but can’t immediately place him.

TOBY
Toby? It’s Toby.
Karen’s starting to go. She can’t carry on shouting.

LIZA
Hi. Hi.
She makes the phone sign. He gives a thumbs up, she thinks he’s misread the phone sign and gestures, or email by doing typing in the air. Toby signs back, yeah, call on the phone or email – does the typing back.

TOBY
She did the Kennedy scholarship at my college. I had a small thing for her.

JUDY
I can imagine.

TOBY
I’m not sure she remembered me.

JUDY
No, that is one of the side effects of Rohypnol.

EXT. FOREIGN OFFICE - DAY
The conversation is continuing between Simon Judy and Toby as they exit the FO.

SIMON
Yeah. Jesus. I really really hope there’s not a war. It’s going to be a nightmare. It’s bad enough having to cope with the fucking Olympics.

They appear outside. There’s a press pack of 10 or so reporters and photographers there.

PRESS
Minister!/Simon!/Mr Foster!

Simon is taken aback.

SIMON
Fuck. Who let the dogs out? We don’t need this.
JUDY
Er, you wanted a chance to row back on the war. Do you want to nail the line?

SIMON

The press are calling.

REPORTER 1
Is war unforeseeable Minister?

REPORTER 2
Karen Clark’s people say you are ruling out British involvement. Is that the case is that Government policy?

SIMON
(to the press)
Hello there. Yes, I stand by my view that war is unforeseeable.
(beat)
However, sometimes we don’t see things coming. But that doesn’t mean they aren’t there. Yes?

REPORTER
So is it there, or isn’t it there?

JUDY
(to Toby)
It’s a bit like listening to a pub bore talking to his dog.

SIMON
Look, (grappling now)
...loads of things that are actually very likely are also unforeseeable.
Y’know, For the plane in the fog the mountain is unforeseeable, but then it, is suddenly very real and inevitable.

Toby and Judy look at one another. This isn’t good.

JUDY
That was like scat. Political scat. Booobdiydoopidydopdo-ountainofconflict-dah!

The press pack are looking for more.

REPORTER
Sorry, are you saying that...?
What I’m saying is that to walk the road of peace, sometimes you need to be ready to climb the mountain of conflict. Thank you!

The press are writing furiously, making calls already. Simon tries to look confident. He and the team get into their car.

Toby Simon and Judy on the back seat as they drive back to the Department.

SIMON
(under his breath)
Pee poo belly bum drawers. Fuck shit arse cock bollocks.
(to Judy)
Why didn’t we nail the line?

JUDY
I did try to warn you.

SIMON
You did try to warn me but you didn’t actually stop me, did you?. That’s like shouting 'Train!' as I get hit by a train. Are you warning me there’s a train? Or are you just going, (stupid voice) 'Look! Train!'.

JUDY'S and SIMON'S phones start ringing. They each check the number.

SIMON (CONT'D)
Oh shit. It's Malcolm.

JUDY
It's Malcolm for me too.

SIMON
How does he do that?
(he answers, tentatively)
Hello?

Malcolm has two phones on the go. He’s watching the SKY NEWS coverage of Simon’s mini-press coverage. It has a ‘Government ready to Climb the Mountain of Conflict’ banner running across the top.
MALCOLM
(on the phone, over TV)
Simon. You’re breaking news. I don’t like unscheduled breaking news. Even fucking acts of Gods need to go through this office, yeah? We need to talk now.

MALCOLM, JUDY, SIMON AND TOBY....

MALCOLM
Shut the fuck up! All of you! Look at yourselves. You’re a fucking disgrace. You’re like the Three fucking Stooges. You want some frying pans to hit each other with? You’re a fucking farce. I should just replace you with a Benny Hill chase sequence and some jazzy saxophone and be done with it.

SIMON
Look Malcolm I can do without the ritual humiliation,...you know I’m against talking up the war...

MALCOLM
(even angrier)
Well why the fuck did you say ‘Climb the Mountain of Conflict.’ You sounded like a Nazi Julie Andrews. Look, you are a member of the cabinet. You’re Officer Class. Don’t make waves. Don’t do this.

SIMON
I’m just saying I might be forced to the verge of making a stand.

MALCOLM
(different tack needed)
(at Toby and Judy)
Right, you two, The White Stripes, outside.

Toby and Judy leave and wait outside the door.

MALCOLM (CONT’D, TO SIMON) (CONT’D)
Look, I admire, I genuinely admire, your principled stand, Simon. So, I take it I can tell the PM you don’t want to go to Washington?
SIMON To...?

MALCOLM
Washington. The boss wants you over there on a fact-finder. Problems we might face if it all goes boombastic in the Middle East.

SIMON
Oh. Right.

MALCOLM
But you were saying, you are on the verge of ... what?

SIMON
Well, look - I don't know what words I used in the heat of the moment, but maybe in a sense I was on the verge. But that's the important thing - I was on the verge. Not in any way decided.

MALCOLM
Christ on a bendy-bus, Simon, stop being such a faffing fuck-arse.

SIMON
I am standing my ground on the verge.

MALCOLM
When you're out there, Talk to Karen Clarke at the State Department,

SIMON
I'll give it a whirl.

MALCOLM
But keep away from Linton Barwick. He's pushing the war for Caulderwood's lot. I'll deal with him. Dangerous fucker. keeps a grenade as a paperweight. True story.

SIMON
Oh right. I won't talk to him.

MALCOLM
Right, so get off your knees, pick up your cyanide capsules and go see Q about your underwater car.

They leave. Outside Malcolm's office, Simon looks at Toby, Toby looks at Simon. This is good, right?

SIMON
Fact finder to Washington!
TOBY Brilliant!

JUDY
(as if joining in, but very half-hearted)
Well done.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT - DAY

Liza, Karen and Chad arrive in the buzzing State Department offices, knackered but in action mode.

KAREN
Okay - so, priorities are: take a shower, play Hunt Linton’s War Committee, get me a dental appointment. But not in that order.

LIZA
Shower later?

KAREN
I give you licence to reek.

Karen walks past various desks covered in tons of Post-Its. Stops a STAFFER as he passes.

KAREN (cont’d) (CONT’D)
What’s Linton been up to while we’ve been away? Has he bombed Hawaii for being UnAmerican?

But before the staffer can answer they run right into Linton. Karen stands her ground.

LINTON
Ah. Karen.

KAREN
Linton.

LINTON
How was London? Good hotel?

KAREN
Great hotel, thank you.

LINTON
Good meetings?

KAREN
Yes. We had some good discussions. The time at Number Ten could possibly have been better spent but then...
Karen realises that Linton is reading a message on his cell phone and not listening.

LINTON
Good. Welcome back. I'll read the words when they come through. Thank you so much.

Linton heads off to his office. A beat later so does Karen. Chad goes off a little towards Linton's office.

KAREN
Is Chad coming... ?

LIZA
(watching)
He's doing his desperate chorus girl thing, hanging around trying to catch Linton's eye. That's why he's wearing his push-up bra.

Chad manages to say a hello to Linton.

CHAD
(as he passes)
Assistant Secretary of State -- hi.

LINTON Brad.

CHAD
Chad

LINTON
Uh-huh. Exactly

CHAD
Can I...?

Linton ignores him as he goes to join Bob Adriano waiting for him in his office.

KAREN
So listen, Liza, I need you to find out the names of the ten dullest committees currently operating on the hill.

LIZA Dullest?

KAREN
They'll have buried the war committee under the most boring name they can think of. 'Diverse Strategy Committee'-- not that, I'm on that.

(MORE)
KAREN (CONT'D)
But it’ll be a committee that sounds so tedious you want to self-harm.

They glance over into Linton's area. He is glancing into theirs.

KAREN (CONT'D)
Can you get me General Miller at the Pentagon?

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT. DAY

Liza goes to her desk, picks up her landline.

LIZA
Hi. I'm calling from Karen Clark's office about a paper written by a staffer here. We need to know if 'Post War Planning: Parameters, Implication's and Possibilities' has reached Assistant Secretary of State Linton Barwick yet?

(listens)
Yeah by Liza Weld.

(listens, shit!)
'Pwip Pip'? It's already been given an acronym?

(listens)
No I don't want to fast-track it.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT. LINTON'S OFFICE - DAY

Looking over at Karen. Now alone, who is still stealing glances over.

LINTON
I do not understand why anyone would choose to work in a glass office. In my opinion glass offices are for perverts. He who sees through walls, lives through walls.

BOB ADRIANO
I did mention I could request the glass be frosted?

LINTON
(as if Bob Adriano brought it up)
Can we get off this subject please? What happened in London?

BOB ADRIANO
Generally positive. Two glitches. Karen flagged a report by one of her staffers - Liza.

(MORE)
BOB ADRIANO (CONT'D)
She's obviously trying to use it as some kind of roadblock. It's called Pwip Pip.

LINTON
Pip what?

BOB ADRIANO
Pwip Pip.

LINTON
What is that a report on - birdsong? What does that stand for?

BOB ADRIANO
I don’t recall. It’s factish. Intel - case for and against intervention.

LINTON
We’ve got all the facts we need on this. You get too many facts you can get blind to the truth. You said there was another thing?

BOB ADRIANO
In the meeting with the Foreign Office the committee was accidentally briefly alluded to.

LINTON
(putting his hand over his mouth so he can’t be lip-read)
Which committee?

BOB ADRIANO
(doing the same)
The war committee.

LINTON
Karen must not find out about that. She is an excitable yapping she-dog. Okay get the minutes of the meeting, we need to correct the record.

BOB ADRIANO
We can do that?

LINTON
Yes we can. They're an aide memoir for us. So they should not be a reductive record of what happened to be said, but a more full record of what was intended to be said. That’s the more accurate version, right?
INT. KAREN’S OFFICE. DAY.

Karen's watching Linton across the floor in his office talking to Bob Adriano. Occasionally Bob Adriano and Linton look over but generally it's obvious they're talking about Karen because of the way they're not looking over. Liza, summoned, enters.

KAREN
They're talking about us aren't they?
It's obvious from the way they're not looking.

INT. SIMON’S OFFICE/BOX ROOM - DAY

Judy’s in her office on the phone, laughing. Simon’s eyeing her suspiciously.

SIMON
What’s she so fucking happy about? Is she laughing at me?

Judy closes the blinds on her side of the office.

SIMON (CONT’D) (cont’d)
Why’s she got control of the blinds? I’m a government minister. I should have blinds.

TOBY (joking)
You want me to order some blinds? Or I could get some heavy curtains with swags and a pelmet.

SIMON
Yes. I do.

TOBY
Oh. Okay ...

SIMON
Can we go somewhere else?

They walk to Box Room.

SIMON (CONT’D)
So listen. My team for the US. Team Simon. I’m thinking of taking you and leaving Judy?

TOBY
Gut reaction? I like it.
SIMON
The way she sprung the press on me outside the FO. That was her screw-up, right?

TOBY
(going with it)
Oh god, yeah. Plus, she can be a bit, "Everything's a bit shit isn't it?"

SIMON
That's true actually, she could be very "So you're the President? And I'm supposed to be impressed by that?"

TOBY
Yeah. My husband works in Tower Hamlets."

SIMON
"That's much harder than being President". Okay. It's settled. Fuck it. She's staying behind. Go and tell her.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT. LINTON'S OFFICE - DAY
30

The following day. Bob Adriano is going through the minutes with Linton.

LINTON
I don't like this comment here about the LND numbers. Cut that. I don't think this is really what France are saying. Let's change that. And these. And let's reverse this.

BOB ADRIANO
That's something Karen said.

LINTON
It's not right. Change it.

BOB ADRIANO
Yes sir.

LINTON
And get rid of this chunk on seven on proliferation.

BOB ADRIANO Done.

LINTON
And I like this.
BOB ADRIANO
Thank you.

LINTON
Let's say everyone agreed with this.

BOB ADRIANO
Excellent.

LINTON
And the committee. We need to excise the reference to the committee. Ah. Here’s the mention. From you. You did not mention it was your mention.

BOB ADRIANO
No sir.

LINTON
Shall we demention that?

BOB ADRIANO
Yes sir.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT – DAY

Liza is working at her desk, Karen in her office. Chad comes to Liza’s desk, but keeps peering into Linton’s office.

CHAD
Have you got the transcript of Caulderwood’s ‘transformational diplomacy’ speech?

LIZA
No, Linton hasn’t left to play squash yet. He’s four minutes late, Rainman! This must play hell with your Aspergers.

CHAD
Okay. Does that mean you don’t have the transcript?

LIZA
I do have the transcript. (does some computer stuff) There, I’ve sent it down to print on the laser on floor three.

CHAD
Why didn’t you print it here?
LIZA
We have a printer here? Silly me.
Sorry -- my bad, Chad.

Chad looks into Linton’s office. Linton has a squash racket in his hand and is talking to Bob Adriano. He looks about to leave.

LIZA (CONT’D)
You not getting your printout?

CHAD
Sure, I’m getting my printout.

Chad, keeping an eye on Linton, heads for the door. He’s almost there when Linton starts to leave.

Chad sprints like a lunatic back across the office to his own desk, picks up a brand-new squash racket in a brand-new bag, and sprints back to Liza’s desk. Starts looking at something nonchalantly on the desk.

Linton passes on his way out with his squash stuff.

LINTON
(re. Chad’s racket)
You play, Chad?

CHAD
Sorry? Oh, yes sir, matter of fact I do play.

LIZA
Really? I never knew that.

LINTON
How about a game? I like a younger opponent, it makes me feel like I’m wearing a hat made of endorphins.

CHAD
Sure thing sir.

Linton and Chad walk out. Liza calls after Chad.

LIZA
You’ve still got the price tag on your squash bag, Chad.

Chad looks at his brand-new bag. The price tag is still on. He gives Liza the finger. She gives it back.

INT. WASHINGTON AIRPORT - DAY

SIMON
There will be a car won’t there?
TOBY
Oh God yeah, of course.

They walk slowly looking at the various cabbies and chauffeurs holding signs.

SIMON
Did you book a car?

He’s looking panicked – then.

TOBY
Here we go.

There’s a guy with a sign that says ‘England Government – Simon Forester’

SIMON
‘Simon Forester?’

TOBY
(to the taxi guy)
Hi we’re the Simon Foster party?

The driver takes their bags and they follow him.

SIMON
It said Forester. What if there is a Simon Forester?

TOBY
It’s fine, it’s ours. I mean is there a Simon Forester in the Government? The England Government?

33
INT. LIMO – DAY

Simon and Toby are heading into Washington. Their car is accompanied by two police motorcycles.

SIMON
(re : the limo)
I almost feel like there should be hookers. Do you know what I mean? Really, here, we should have hookers.

TOBY
(thumbs up, on his mobile)
Hey Gav, I’m in a fucking motorcade!

DRIVER
You want girls?
SIMON
(terrified of things getting out of hand)
What? Oh no. God no. No no no no no. I was just – I was just joking. I don’t want hookers. I hate hookers. I mean not in an aggressive way. I’m just not interested.
(uncomfy beat, then)
But thanks. Thanks very much.

EXT. WASHINGTON HOTEL - DAY
They get out of the limo, take in the hotel facade. Not bad. Pretty fucking good.

TOBY
(pulling out his mobile)
I’m sending a photo of this to Gav and those agricultural losers. Remind them there’s more glamorous things than tROUT farms and Rabies.

INT. WASHINGTON HOTEL - DAY
They walk in. Oh. Right. Not so impressive then. Not crappy. Just very bland and ordinary.

TOBY
It’s like a hangar for businessmen.

INT. WASHINGTON HOTEL ROOM
Simon and Toby enter hotel room, pay porter, admire disappointing view from window.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT. KAREN’S OFFICE - DAY
Karen, Liza and Linton are among those seated round the table. Various staffers are standing, including Chad.
And Bob Adriano.

KAREN
Which brings us on to Any Other Business.

LINTON
I actually have another appointment.

KAREN
‘Appointment?’ You’re playing squash, not having a CAT scan.
(MORE)
KAREN (CONT'D)
But, I’ll keep it brief so you can go play with the boy of your choice.

LINTON
Don’t cheapen it Karen. It’s a noble art.
I believe I’ve flagged everything I needed to discuss. As I usually do.

KAREN
(putting her hand over her mouth, mocking Linton’s gesture from earlier)
Or everything you’re prepared to discuss. I understand you’ve started up a new committee, what’s it called?

LINTON
What makes you think that?

KAREN
It was mentioned in our London meeting.

LINTON
You must be mistaken. I’ve read the minutes and I’m afraid I’m not aware of what you’re referring to.

KAREN
I was there, it’s in the minutes.

Liza shows Karen the minutes. Karen realises it’s not there.

LINTON
You obviously mis-heard.

KAREN
I misheard the word ‘committee’?

LINTON
Karen, I can’t vouch for your hearing. Maybe it was another word. Say... Khomeini.

KAREN
You’re sitting on a Khomeni?

LINTON
There are lots of words. 'Kansas City'? 'Kitty'?

BOB ADRIANO Itty?

LINTON
'Itty' is not a word, Bob.
CHAD ‘Commissary’?

LINTON
Very good, Chad.

KAREN
Okay, why don’t you just recap for me all the committees you’re on at the moment?

LINTON
Sorry, Karen, you appear to be bleeding from your mouth.

She is. But she doesn’t want to leave the meeting.

LINTON (CONT’D)
I don’t mean to be rude Karen but that is a tad... repulsive.

Karen gets up to go. It’s awkward, she’s boxed in and has to clamber over the others to get to the door.

LIZA
Do you want me to come with you?

Liza follows Karen out. Chad takes Liza’s seat.

LINTON
I don’t like to see a woman bleeding from the mouth.

CHAD
No.

LINTON
It makes me think of Country and Western music. Which I really can’t abide.

CHAD
(what?)
Yes! Ha ha! Exactly.

Linton sees his chance to take advantage of Karen being out of the room.

LINTON
Actually while we’re on Any Other Business I do have a few points I’d like to resolve.
Liza is pulling handfuls of tissue. Handing them to Karen who is dabbing her teeth.

KAREN
Where are at you at with the committees?

LIZA
I got it down to two. The Aims and Policy Alignment Committee. Here - put some down your front - you don't want it to go down your... And the Future Planning Committee.

KAREN
Well, it's not the first one. I set that one up. Does that really sound dull to you? I thought that was a good name.

LIZA
Right, no, it is a good name.

KAREN
Okay, find out if it is definitely the Future Planning Committee.

LIZA
Okay. Okay. Right, listen, I might go and do that. You're not going to shout at me if I go and do that are you?

KAREN
I'm not a fucking monster Liza, okay? Will you stop implying I'm some kind of monster. I'm just someone whose assistant finds it difficult to multi-task.

Liza heads out of the toilets to see Bob Adriano ahead, quite a long way.

LIZA Bob!

Bob Adriano stops and turns.

BOB ADRIANO
Liza.
Liza sprints and catches up with him. It takes a little while.

A beat.

LIZA
So listen, Bob, there’s something I really want to tell you.

BOB ADRIANO
(hopes it might be a come-on?)
Oh really?

LIZA
Yeah. Karen knows about the Future Planning Committee.

Bob Adriano looks shocked, tries to cover it up.

BOB ADRIANO
I officially and actually have no idea what you’re talking about.

Liza smiles. Runs back into the toilets and gives a thumbs up to Karen.

INT. WASHINGTON HOTEL - TOBY’S ROOM.

Simon knocks on the door. Toby opens, he’s in his boxer shorts and shirt.

SIMON
So! What’s the plan? What swanky reception are we going to?

TOBY
(panic in his eyes)
What’s the plan? For tonight?

SIMON
Well that’s what I’m asking you Toby, my chief aide, my political advisor.

TOBY
I don’t know, I thought tonight we’d be tired?

SIMON
(approaching breaking point with Toby)
Well I am tired but I’m also a career politician Toby, in the political powerhouse of the world for forty-eight hours.

(MORE)
So I thought it might be nice to, you know, go out rather than sit in my room trying to spank one out watching a shark documentary, because I’m scared if I watch a porno it’ll end up in the Register of Members Interests. So what have you got?

Toby
Okay ... What have I got?

Simon
Don’t bullshit me Toby.

Toby
Okay - so far, we have ... one flyer under the door for happy hour in the bar - which might be interesting? And I have the number of a guy I was with at Uni who I believe now works for CNN out here.

Simon
No.

Toby
Judy?

Simon
Dude it’s like the middle of the night.

Toby
Okay, no sure. Give me 20 minutes.

Simon
Okay, I’ll try a contact or two.

INT. WASHINGTON HOTEL BATHROOM/INT JUDY’S FLAT.

Toby goes into the bathroom.

He thinks, starts to call squeamishly. Cut to Judy in bed. Rolls over, looks at number on her mobile. Answers.

Toby
Hi, Judy, we were wondering, Simon and I, well Simon was wondering, did you put anything in the social diary for tonight?

Judy
Fuck off Toby.

Cancels call. Her land line goes.
CONTINUED:

JUDY (CONT'D)
Hi Hi Minister ...

Next to Judy her husband rolls out of bed, frustrated at the number of intrusions.

JUDY’S BLOKE
Oh for fuck’s sake. Honestly.

INT. WASHINGTON HOTEL ROOM

Toby re-enters the main hotel room.

SIMON
(hand over phone, explaining) Judy. She - called me.

TOBY
Right sure.

SIMON
What you get us?

TOBY
(left hanging)
My contact will get back to us.

INT. GEORGETOWN HOUSE - NIGHT

A smart private cocktail party in a fancy Georgetown house. Karen and General Miller spot each other.

They each take a glass of champagne from a waiter.

GENERAL MILLER

KAREN
I bet you say that to all the girls.

GENERAL MILLER
Yeah I do. And some of the guys.

KAREN
That’s why you shouldn’t run for Senate. Too many skeletons in your enormous closet.

GENERAL MILLER
Yeah, don’t believe the hype. I’m just thinking about doing ... something. I’m more than just a soldier, Karen.
KAREN
That’s right, you’re passionate about education and housing and what’s the other thing?

GENERAL MILLER
Lingerie.

KAREN
That’s right. How’s the dog?

GENERAL MILLER
Makes my head swell and my eyes disappear. I look like a giant ball sack.

KAREN
And how’s the pentagon?

GENERAL MILLER
It’s kicked up a level. Talking invasion real soon.

KAREN
Is there somewhere we can talk?

GENERAL MILLER
I don’t know, I don’t live in this house.

INT. CAULDERWOOD’S PARTY. ADJOINING PLAY ROOM – EVENING
General Miller and Karen are in Caulderwood’s kids’ play room. Toys are piled up everywhere.

KAREN
What if someone comes in now?

GENERAL MILLER
I can’t think of an excuse that would work can you?

KAREN
No.

GENERAL MILLER
Okay so that’s total minimum European Theatre requirement.

He shows her a figure on a piece of paper.

GENERAL MILLER (CONT’D)
(he scribbles)
This is Far East, Korea, Japan etc.

He scribbles.
GENERAL MILLER (CONT’D)
Add those. Plus contingency already deployed.

KAREN
Er - you’ve lost me.

Miller looks around, grabs a child’s laptop. Opens it, it says ‘howday’ in an electronic voice.

KAREN (CONT’D)
Your military hardware is impressive.

GENERAL MILLER
Not anymore it isn’t. Okay so this is total current deployment.
(he types)
This is calling up shitheads, morons, people that just got out of jail, potheads who thought they were joining the coastguard.
(He types)
So the current number of combat troops available for an invasion according to these figures would be ...
(he presses the ‘equals’ button)

COMPUTER VOICE Twelve.

KAREN Thousand?

GENERAL MILLER
No, twelve. Twelve soldiers. Twelve.

KAREN
You’re shitting me.

GENERAL MILLER
Of course I’m shitting you, but 12 thousand isn’t enough. Twelve thousand’s about how many are going to die. And you really need a few guys alive at the end of a war or it looks like you’ve lost.

KAREN
Uh-hu. Did they teach you that at West Point?

Hm, yeah well tomorrow I’ve got to meet these Brits. Simon Foster. Sounds cute, doesn't he? Like straight out of a nursery rhyme.
GENERAL MILLER
So, what, you thinking, we big the guy up? Get him on the war committee? Use him as our meat puppet?

KAREN
Exactly. Internationalise the dissent.

GENERAL MILLER
Good, that’s what we need. A coalition of the Fucked Off.

INT. GEORGETOWN HOUSE. EVENING.
Liza walks round to see Karen, on her mobile. She starts waving at her. Karen doesn’t spot her in the crowd.

LIZA
I’m waving at you.

KAREN
I can’t see you. Be more visible.

She advances.

LIZA
I’m practically on top of you.

KAREN
Now I see you. Okay you can stop talking into your cell now.

They are together.

LIZA
(to her and into phone)
Okay.

KAREN
Look I’m taking the car. My teeth have formed themselves into a guerilla cell and are trying to kill me. Tell Simon Foster and his team to come in for the war committee and I’ll do a five-minute Danish and hand job with them at ten. Okay? And if I die in the night, my dentist goes to Cuba in an orange jumpsuit.
EXT. GEORGETOWN STREET - EVENING.

LIZA
(on phone, deep breath)
Hey Toby! It’s Liza Weld. Do you remember? What you guys doing?

INT. WASHINGTON HOTEL. TOBY’S ROOM - EVENING.

Toby and Simon watching a shark documentary eating room service on their laps.

TOBY
It’s unbelievably hectic.

SIMON
You can definitely spot the female ones, can’t you?

LIZA
So you made it.

TOBY

LIZA
So last time I saw you was what, end of semester, five, six years ago?

TOBY
Yeah sorry about that. I thought it would come across as romantic. But apparently it seemed more ...
(does the stabbing from Psycho)

LIZA
To be honest, you were quite drunk. So it came across as more (drunken shouting)
‘Ma haw wii aaarrllllaaaaaa beeeeee hoooooooorrrrrrrrr’.

TOBY
But look at us now! Here we are - running the world.

LIZA
Uh-hu. I mean, I guess I’m running the world, while your country is more of a floating early-warning system. So Karen has scheduled face time with you and Simon tomorrow at ten.
TOBY
Oh, wow, okay. Great.

LIZA
And there’s one other thing.

TOBY Yeah?

LIZA
It’s the War Committee. Real top notch Bogsat.

TOBY Bogsat?

LIZA
Bunch of Guys sat round a table. It’s small. Really small, that’s how they want it. But very loopy, inner loop. Doubledomes. Beltway hardcore. This is where war’s going to get decided. Room 712. Make sure you’re briefed, these guys won’t fuck around.

TOBY
Fucking brilliant.

Anyway, I need a drink. You wanna catch up, Toby?

TOBY (CONT'D)
(can’t believe his luck, there’s a connection)
You and me? Sure.

Realises he’s going to leave Simon on his own.

TOBY (CONT'D)
(whispers to Simon)
I’ve got us in.

SIMON Where?

TOBY
Meeting with Karen Clark at State, 10am. Plus. And this is big. War committee. Top secret. Total Bogsat, chock with doubleloops. Domey. Beltway hardnuts. I’ll emailed the deets to your blackberry. Cool?

SIMON Great.
Toby and Liza sit in a booth. They are by far the most formally dressed people in the club. A band are playing angry rock with a vaguely political message. A small knot of people are rocking out.

Liza
(re: the mosh pit)
You see those guys? The mosh pit?

Toby
Yes, I don’t think I’ve ever seen a more civilised ‘mosh pit’ it’s more of a mosh caucus actually.

Liza
House staffers, Senators’ interns, most of them are half-man half-PDF file. Tonight they rage hard. Tomorrow they go back to the hill and argue noise reduction legislation.

They’re chuckling, having a good time.

Toby
So do you ever – rebel, a little.

She looks at him, pulls back the arm of the top she’s wearing to reveal a tattoo on her upper arm.

Toby (Cont’d)
Cool!

Liza
Yeah – above here,
(sheet motions to where her clothes cover)
you see, is plausible deniability.

Toby
(looking a bit too closely?)
What is it?

Liza
It’s Sanskrit for peace.
TOBY
Oh. Nice. Best to keep it in code - not a very fashionable idea I guess.

LIZA
(she’s been mulling on something else entirely)
Did you hear about Pwip Pip to you?

TOBY
I’m sorry? Pip Pip? Is this... a person or a cell phone tariff or..

LIZA
It’s my paper. On the war. Pros and Cons of the war. But I came up with too many cons. The pro-war guys have started calling me ‘Connie’.

TOBY
You’re worried.

LIZA
Yes I’m fucking worried. My career’s on the line.

TOBY
Yeah- I noticed you’re worried, cos I saw you looking worried. I’m perceptive like that. But...
(can’t think of anything else)
Don’t worry.

LIZA
Okay, this place blows. I’m going. What are you doing?

TOBY
Well I’m incredibly tired. It feels like my brain's eight hours behind but my liver's 12 hours ahead.

LIZA
You don’t want to come back to my place for a quick catch up?

It's an alluring offer.

TOBY
However, due to technological developments I no longer need sleep, but am physically rejuvenated by alcohol!

He guzzles from his beer bottle as they leave.
INT. LIZA'S APARTMENT - NIGHT

Toby and Liza are on the bed together, kissing.

TOBY
Could I just say, you know, that what happens in Washington stays in Washington?

LIZA
Yeah I live in Washington. So that doesn't really work for me.

INT. LIZA'S APARTMENT - DAY

Toby wakes up. His mouth is parched. He feels terrible. He rolls over. Liza is gone. He can't remember where he is or what's going on. Then with a flash as he looks at the clock - 9.07 he remembers a lot of things in a rush and springs out like a Ninja and starts pulling his clothes on, while scrabbling for his phone.

He heads down stairs & out of the apartment.

EXT. LIZA'S APARTMENT BLOCK - DAY

TOBY
Hello I need a number for a taxi in Washington DC. Straight through please.

He's on the street.

TOBY (CONT'D)
Hello. I need a cab, right now. From? From where? From from (sees the house number)

TOBY (CONT'D)
It's 40, 46, that's the number, and it's a street. It's a nice street with houses and cars and a - sidewalk and it's got leaves and - hold on I'm walking, I'm walking to a sign ...

EXT. STREET NEAR LIZA'S APARTMENT - DAY

Toby walks past a kid standing outside a run-down school.
TOBY
(without stopping)
Excuse me, do you know where the State Department is?

KID
Yes.

TOBY
Where is it?

KID
I don’t know.

TOBY
Thank you very much.
(to the kid as he jogs off)
If I don’t get there on time to stop this, I reckon in about eight years you’ll be getting called up.

He carries on past the kid a little scared.

EXT. WASHINGTON STREET
Toby running.

INT. KAREN CLARK’S OFFICE. DAY.
Karen, Liza and Simon are making small talk.

LIZA
Marcel’s is good.

SIMON
Uh-huh.

KAREN
You should go to La Taverna, the Greek place. It’s fantastic.

LIZA
They set fire to the cheese. It’s a lot of fun.

SIMON
It sounds a lot of fun.

KAREN
There’s the aerospace museum, the National Gallery.

SIMON
Do they set fire to the paintings?
Polite laughter. Toby comes in.

TOBY
Hi I’m sorry I’m so late.

KAREN
(re Toby)
And this is your guy?

SIMON
Yes. He’s, you know, among my guys.

Toby shoots Simon a look.

KAREN
(turning to Toby)
I’m Karen. And I believe you already know Liza.

TOBY
(she can’t know?)
Yes. From college, in England.

KAREN
Pulled an all-nighter?

Toby looks to Liza for guidance. She’s not giving any.

TOBY
Yes, I, uh, got led astray.

KAREN
Oh who by?

TOBY
Uh, well I ran into - people. There’s some people from - the MoD over and ...

KAREN
Not Penny Grayling?

TOBY
Er - no, another - gang?

KAREN
Right. Wow. I didn’t know you had so many delegations in town.

TOBY (weakly)
The British are coming!

KAREN
Well, I need to just check out a couple of things ... this seems like a good point to break things up.
SIMON
Er - no problem.

They start to get up, not quite sure what’s going on.

LIZA
It’s been great.

SIMON Terrific.

KAREN
I really appreciate this.

TOBY Brilliant.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT - DAY

Simon and Toby walk out into a larger office. They find a couple of seats left out for people waiting and sit down. Various staffers come and go, picking up papers and files, saying hi, looking knackered, all drinking either diet cokes or coffees.

TOBY
Was that...?

SIMON
Toby -- I don’t want to read you the riot act here but I am going to have to read some extracts from the riot act. Like Section 1 paragraph 1 clause 1. Don’t leave your boss twisting in the wind and then burst in late smelling like a pissed seaside donkey.

(special needs)
‘The British are coming’?

TOBY
Look, chief, I am really sorry okay. But to be fair I did swing the meeting in the first place. And I got us on the committee.

SIMON
Yes well, you might have just got us taken off the committee.

TOBY
(feels he’s taken enough now)
So I turned up late to the meeting Simon. I’m sorry. But it’s not like I threw up in there.
SIMON
No you’re right. I should be thanking you for not throwing up. Well done. You’re a star. You didn’t wet yourself, you’re in the right city, you didn’t say anything overtly racist, you didn’t pull your dick out and start plucking it and shouting ‘willy banjo’. No I’m being unfair, you got so much right. Without actually being there for the beginning of one of the biggest meetings of my career. You’re a legend.

An uncomfortable beat.

TOBY
That was just - the first bit was it? We’re going back in do you ...think?

SIMON
We’d barely said hello. I’ve had muggings that have lasted longer than that. We really only spoke about flammable cheese.

TOBY
Maybe there’s some Washington etiquette where they take a short break before they start the meeting proper?

SIMON
Maybe. They show the opening credits of a TV show then they have an ad break.

Liza comes out, passes by. Toby mouths ‘shit’ to himself.

LIZA
(looking at a list on her desk, then to a staffer) Are these all requests to get on the committee? What’s going on? Did someone post an invite on Facebook? I’m drowning in Senators. It’s Senator soup here.

TOBY
Hi Liza.

They’re uncomfy with each other.

LIZA
Hey Toby.
Toby gets up for a private word.

TOBY
(re last night)
You feeling okay?

LIZA
Yes, I’m feeling fine. Why were you late?

TOBY
Because...you know...you didn’t wake me up.

LIZA
You looked so sweet. I thought you knew what you were doing.

TOBY
I was asleep, of course I didn’t. That’s how people walk out of windows.

Chad is passing. As Liza turns away Toby’s face does a spasm of regret at his brazen lying.

CHAD
Everyone is so hot for your paper. I’m running off another ten copies. It’s spreading like a virus, Liza. You’re in hot water. You’re lobsterising.

LIZA
I don’t feel that.

CHAD
It’s by degrees. One by one, then – you’re dead. You’re dinner.

LIZA
(to Toby)
You know the only reason he comes over here is he can see in Linton’s office from my desk.

CHAD
Yeah, well, I’ll have your desk soon, now your anti-war paper has declared war on your career. I smell lobster. Can you smell lobster, Toby?

Simon calls Toby back over.

SIMON (O.S.)
Mate!

TOBY
I need to...
LIZA Sure.

Toby goes back to Simon

LIZA (CONT’D)
So, how far would you go with Linton, you freaky little stalker? Downtown? Or all the way up Brokeback Mountain?

INT. WHITE HOUSE. SMALLISH ROOM - DAY

Malcolm is arriving into a meeting room set up with water etc with a young man who looks like an intern, A.J.

A.J.
How are you today? Beat the traffic?

Malcolm looking around, as if things aren't right.

MALCOLM
Yeah yeah. Hunky dory. Can I get a coffee?

He gives AJ his coat.

A.J.
(doesn’t take coat then eventually does and just puts it on a chair, not the coat stand)
Sure, sure, if we get started, I’ll get my assistant to bring us some refreshments.

MALCOLM
(realising)
Your assistant?

A.J.
(sitting, picking up a file in the room)
Yeah. So, Item. We need to have a conversation about the mood of the British Parliament. Any bumps in the road ahead.

MALCOLM
I’m sorry son, am I - is this it? No offence, but shouldn’t you be at school with your head down a toilet?

A.J.
Your first point there, the offence. I'm afraid I'm gonna have to take it.

(MORE)
A.J. (CONT'D)
Your second point. I'm 22. But - item - It's my birthday in nine days, so if it would be more comfortable we could... wait...?

MALCOLM
Don't get sarcastic with me son.
(starts dialling)
We burnt this tight-arsed city to the ground in 1814 and I'm all for doing it again. Starting with you, you frat fuck. You get sarcastic with me again and I will stuff so much cotton wool down your fucking throat it'll come out of your arse like the wee tail on a playboy bunny. Okay? I thought...I was led to believe I was attending the war committee.

A.J.
Yes, Assistant Secretary of State Linton Barwick wanted me to brief you on the work of the Future Planning Committee.

MALCOLM
I don't want the bullshit son, I want the bull. No one sidelines me. I'm away.

Malcolm gets up, grabs his coat. An even younger guy wheels in a coffee trolley.

MALCOLM (CONT'D)
And here we go - the fucking Vice President has also graced us with his presence!

Malcolm runs out, on the phone.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT - DAY
Toby and Simon are still waiting.

TOBY
(re. meeting)
What if it has finished? And Karen comes and sees us still here that's going to be embarrassing. We'll look like groupies.

SIMON
But what if the meeting hasn’t finished and she comes out and we’ve done a runner?
TOBY
Why don’t we go and find her and ask if the meeting has finished?

SIMON
Are you still drunk?

TOBY
Shall I call Judy, see if she can find out?

SIMON
No. Let’s try for once to do something without Judy. We’ve drawn long enough at that teat.

They look around awkwardly about to stand. A staffer passes.

STAFFER 3
Can I get you guys anything?

They shake their heads.

SIMON
Now we can’t go. Call Judy.

TOBY
(calling)
Hi Judy, do you know how long this meeting we were in was scheduled for?

JUDY
And what is this meeting?

TOBY
With Karen Clark at State. I set it up last night.

JUDY
Okay, so you want me to tell you how long a meeting you set up in Washington is scheduled for?

TOBY
Yes?
JUDY
Forty seven minutes. Good luck.

Hangs up.

TOBY
Thank you.
(Simon looks at him hopefully)
Well she said 47 minutes. But I think she was making an unfriendly joke, but I’m not totally certain.

EXT. WASHINGTON STREET NR WHITE HOUSE/DFID LADIES’ LOO - 59 DAY
Malcolm’s walking fast. He’s on the phone. Judy’s still in the toilet cubicle, almost changed now.

MALCOLM
Where’s the war committee? I thought I was going to the war committee.

JUDY
Simon’s going to the committee - I thought you...?

MALCOLM
Just tell me where the fuck it’s happening.

JUDY
Say please.

MALCOLM
Are you taking the...Who the fuck do you think you are? Dame Judy Dench?

JUDY
Do you want me to tell you where it is?

MALCOLM
Yes.
(pained)
Please.

JUDY
It’s on the seventh floor. Room 712.
(beat)
Do you like how I’m telling you what’s going on where you are?

MALCOLM
Well let me tell you what’s going on where YOU are, darling.
(MORE)
A certain vinegar-faced manipulative cowbag is about to discover she’s out of a fucking job...

(beat realises)
You’ve fucking hung up haven’t you?
You fucking hoity toity...

PASSER-BY
Hey, buddy, enough of the curse words.

MALCOLM
Kiss my sweaty balls you nosey fuck.

Malcolm starts running.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT – DAY

Simon and Toby are looking through magazines and papers. Karen is exiting her office with an entourage.

SIMON
Here she comes - shit - look like we’re meeting, look like we’re having a meeting!

TOBY
(as she passes, re magazine)
... and if you look ... at the line they take in Newsweek - that’s very much ... another narrative.

KAREN
See you at the committee.

SIMON
.like he’s busy)
Yeah, yeah sure, see you in a mo. Just finishing off some stuff.
(to Toby loud)
Okay, we’re all done there. Let’s roll.

Toby looks at him. As they get up and follow her at speed, tripping to keep up.

TOBY (quiet)
I don’t think you can say that anymore here. They don’t like that.

SIMON
Shut up. Follow them. Don’t lose them. Lets rock.
Linton is with Adriano, quietly horrified by all these people. General Miller passes them.

LINTON
(For Miller’s benefit)
We seem to be overrun with insurgents here, Bob.

But the room is rapidly filling with bodies and din.
Linton calls the over-stuffed, standing-room-only room to order.

LINTON (CONT’D)
Okay, due to the fact that seemingly everyone in the world who owns a suit has turned up for this meeting, we’ll be relocating to a bigger room. Room 720. So, if you will be so kind...

The committee members file out.

Malcolm is legging it down the street.

The committee members file in.
Miller goes close up to Linton.

GENERAL MILLER
Just so you know -- Karen and I did not appreciate having to sneak around like fucking Hart To Hart trying to find out about this committee.

LINTON
Well, you’re both here now. So that’s great.

GENERAL MILLER
You and I need to talk, mano-a-mano, cocks on the block, about how things are operating around here at the moment.

Linton not fazed by this.
LINTON
Sure. How about 12:30 tomorrow, my office?

GENERAL MILLER
Good.

General Miller takes his seat. Linton turns on Adriano.

LINTON
What the hell happened?

ADRIANO
I have no idea how they all heard sir.
There must have been a leak.

LINTON
Oh do you think? Really?
(with menace)
And do you know anything about this leak? Did you lay an egg in Karen Clark’s basket?

ADRIANO
I swear, honestly sir, I have absolutely no idea what is going on.

LINTON
That is not something we like to boast about in my office.

Simon is sitting with Toby, marvelling at the numbers of people cramming into the room.

SIMON
I’m room meat again. This is a massive abattoir of room meat. Stay outside Tobes, I need a guy on the outside.
Make friends with Chad, the flannelfucker. He knows stuff. Pump him.

TOBY
Oh no. I want to stay in here with Miller. Don’t make me pump Chad.

SIMON
I’m making you pump Chad. Go on.

Toby gets up to leave.

SIMON (CONT’D)
It’ll be easy peasy lemon squeezy.

TOBY
No it won’t. It’ll be difficult difficult lemon difficult.
Toby reluctantly leaves, trying to grab another peek at Miller.

EXT. WASHINGTON STREET NR STATE DEPARTMENT - DAY

Malcolm running like a madman.

INT. LARGER COMMITTEE ROOM 720 - DAY

Everyone is finally assembled. The room has thirty or so people in it.

LINTON
So, welcome to this, somewhat engorged session of the Future Planning Committee. You can all see an agenda?

People are looking at their agendas, low-level chatter, pouring of water, etc. - a general pre-meeting feel.

KAREN
Assistant Secretary -- here on point 6, it feels like there’s an assumption that we’ll be invading. Should we talk about the practical? I mean this is the war committee after all?

LINTON
It’s the Future Planning Committee.

KAREN
Unofficially it’s known as the war committee.

LINTON
Well, unofficially we can call anything whatever we like.

(he holds up a water glass)

Unofficially, this is a shoe. But it’s not a shoe, Karen, it’s a glass of water, and this is the Future Planning Committee.

MILLER
Well, unofficially, this appears to be bullshit.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT - DAY

It’s lunchtime. Lots of staffers have left their desks. A few are eating sandwiches at their desks, or reading a newspaper during lunch.
Chad is emailing, reading, multi-tasking, from a corner of desk near Linton’s office.

Toby mooches around, peers in Linton’s office. He spots a couple of A4 sheets of paper that have been printed out with ‘Climb the mountain of conflict!’ across them on top of the printer.

TOBY (looking in) What’s all this?

CHAD
Climb the mountain of conflict. We’re just choosing a font.

TOBY
What about the font the SS used? Have you thought about using that one.

CHAD
Well, that obviously has bad connotations.

TOBY
Heavy metal.

CHAD
No - the SS.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT ROOM 720. DAY.

Karen is talking.

KAREN
But what I’m asking is has a decision been reached in principle to advocate invasion?

LINTON
That’s way off agenda Karen. Although it would seem a general consensus may be forming.

KAREN
What makes you say that?

LINTON
Well I noted with interest the recent comments of our colleague Simon Foster in that regard.
Simon is texting under the desk and not really paying full attention. He hears his name, looks up, waves to the group. He doesn’t clock Karen’s intense look that says ‘You are going to rebut that, aren’t you?’

KAREN
Perhaps Mr. Foster would have something to say about that?

SIMON
(politely)
I’m just...watching with interest. In my country, we have a great saying for situations such as this, which is: “It’s difficult, difficult. Lemon. Difficult”

He goes back to his text.

LINTON
As I say it seems a consensus is forming.

KAREN
(furious)
That’s just ridiculous. You have no basis for saying that.

LINTON
Karen, please, calm down. We don’t want you to have another hemorrhage. Item One.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT. CORRIDOR/BATHROOM - DAY

Malcolm arrives at the committee just as people are spilling out. He’s pissed off. Follows Linton into bathroom.

MALCOLM
Are you fucking me about?

LINTON
What seems to be the problem?

MALCOLM
I’ve just had a briefing from a 9-year-old child.

LINTON
AJ? He is one of my top guys. Stanton College Prep, Harvard...he’s smart and he’s great at his job.
MALCOLM
His fucking briefing notes were written in Alphabetti Spaghetti. When I left I nearly tripped over his umbilical cord.

LINTON
I’m sorry if it troubles you that our people achieve excellence at a young age.

Simon is emerging. Linton takes Malcolm to one side, out of Simon’s earshot.

LINTON (CONT’D)
By the way, your prime minister informs me that he’s tasked you with collating some fresh British intel for us.

MALCOLM
Yeah, apparently your fucking master race of gifted toddlers can’t quit get the job done in between breast feeds and playing with their power rangers. So yeah, we’re getting some actual grown-ups to bail you out.

Simon gets closer. Linton moves in.

LINTON
(to Simon)
Minister, thank you so much for your support and your recent “Climb the mountain of conflict” comment – great. We’re going to run with that, it has great repeatability.

SIMON
Thanks very much, but…it’s all a bit complex really, in terms of my...

Malcolm interrupts, taking Linton to one side again. Simon hangs around on the periphery, trying to be part of the conversation.

MALCOLM
I don’t think you should run with that. It’s not playing well in the UK. We need more time.

LINTON
I’m sure that’s not the case.

Linton pulls away, starts walking off.
LINTON (CONT'D)
It’s early days, my friend. All roads lead to Munich.

He smiles and walks off.

MALCOLM
What the fuck does that mean? ‘All roads lead to Munich’?

INT. CONSTITUENCY OFFICE. DAY.

TOBY and SIMON are with Simon’s constituency agent, ROZ, she’s ushering them into the small, damp little constituency office. ROZ’s arm is in a sling (Jo Scanlon’s arm actually is in a sling) and she has difficulty opening the door.

ROZ
(to Simon)
Sorry, could you...? You just need to kick the bottom quite hard.

Simon kicks the bottom of the door to unstick it.

ROZ (CONT'D)
Right, here you go, you’re pretty booked up – there’s a list on the desk.

In the private office next to the waiting room Toby has to turn the lights on. It’s small and dingy. Simon has to go under the desk to turn the desk light on.

TOBY
(watching Simon)
How the mighty are fallen. From White House to shitehouse.

SIMON
(coming out from under the desk)
Actually, fuck this, can you get under there mate?

Toby looks – why should he?

TOBY
Er...it’s not really a political issue, your lamp so...
SIMON
No, but it allows me to see political issues so — probably it would be best if you stopped pulling your fucking 'I'm in an indie band' face and got under there right now alright?

TOBY Right.

SIMON
I'm just back from America,

ROZ
How was the President?

She's heading off.

SIMON
Good actually.
(knowing she won't hear)
It's Will Smith now.

INT. CONSTITUENCY SURGERY - DAY
Roz opens the door. There are a few constituents waiting to see Simon, he nods a hello.

SIMON
(Roz has gone ahead, this is to Toby)
Look at them. They all have that smell....like a charity shop, you know?

INT. CONSTITUENCY SURGERY - DAY
Simon listens behind a desk. Roz is there taking notes.

Toby is in the corner working on a laptop. He opens a folder called 'Chad Dongle 3'. Sees a document 'Pwip Pip - confidential', opens that. Starts reading.

ROZ
(looking through the paperwork)
Well it's not a council sceptic tank so they're not legally obliged to pump it...
MRS MCDAIRMID
Look, according to the paperwork there's four metric tons of shit under there. That's not all me, is it? I'm not a flipping elephant am I?

SIMON
No, of course not. That's the last thing you are. Okay, Mrs McDairmid. Leave it with me. I'm sure there must be a way through this. Alright?

Mrs Kendrick heads out.

MRS KENDRICK
Thank you. Thank you very much.

SIMON
Right, what's next? I've got a letter here from someone who wants me to stop cyclists being smug.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT - DAY
Karen runs out of the lifts. There's even more of a buzz than usual, people running around. She sees Bob Adriano, Linton and Chad in a huddle in Linton's air. Hurries over to Liza.

KAREN
Liza, what's up? Why is everyone running around?

This better be a fucking fire drill otherwise I want to know why I wasn’t told about whatever the fuck it is.

LIZA
The President has said he's vetoing tarrifs on Chinese auto imports.

KAREN Shit.

Karen calls over to a staffer, ABBEY.

KAREN (CONT’D)
Abbey, get me the president's statement.

ABBYE
Mr Barwick has asked me to...

Karen is beginning to lose it.
KAREN

You work to me, Abbey, you fucking work to me. Get me the statement.

Karen crosses quickly to her office. Liza follows.

LIZA

Sorry, why is that...? He’s...what, buttering the Chinese up?

KAREN

He needs them to at least abstain in the security council.

A beat.

LIZA

We’re going to the UN.

KAREN

Yes, we’re going to the UN.

INT. CONSTITUENCY SURGERY - DAY

Toby exits to get coffee as Roz brings in PAUL MICHAELSON.

PAUL MICHAELSON

(as he enters)

Hi, thanks for seeing me Mr. Foster.

SIMON

Hi Paul, call me Simon. You’ve met Roz.

PAUL MICHAELSON

I know I have.

SIMON

Lovely.

PAUL MICHAELSON

Okay, Simon, I’ll try to keep it brief because I can see you’re a busy man. There’s a bloke out there wants to make it illegal to talk in a foreign language in shops.

SIMON

Yes, well, this place can become a magnet for the mentally dispossessed. And for sensible people like yourself, Paul.

PAUL MICHAELSON

Patronising.
ROZ
Why don’t you explain your issue, Mr Michaelson?

PAUL MICHAELSON
I…sorry, is this a joke?
How many times? For the fourth f…ing time.
(as to an idiot)
The side wall. Of this property. Your wall. Is falling over. On to my mum’s garden. She called you up – but she got fobbed off by your people. Because she’s not Lord Snooty in his posh car. Because she’s not Madonna on a horse.

SIMON
That…I agree, it’s unacceptable.

Toby comes back in, hands Simon a coffee.

PAUL MICHAELSON
Do you know what this is?
(he hums something irritating)
That’s your constituency office hold music. I don’t want it in my head, do I?

SIMON
(checks notes)
We did arrange to get a quote from a builder, but...

Roz has a call on the landline.

ROZ
Patch from London. They say it’s urgent. Karen Clark? Is she the coracle woman?

SIMON
Right. Paul, I really need to take this, but I haven’t forgotten about you, okay?

PAUL MICHAELSON
No, well I’m not going anywhere, Simon. You won’t be able to forget me because I’ll be sitting here staring at you.

SIMON
Toby, can I hand Paul over to you?
“Can I fob Paul off with you?”

Simon goes elsewhere in the room to take his call.

TOBY
So, Paul, where are we up to?
(off Paul's scary look)
I was out getting coffee. Sorry.

He grabs a pen and paper.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT/INT. CONSTITUENCY SURGERY - DAY

(CHANGE SCENE ORDER)

Simon is talking to Karen.

INTERCUT PHONE CALL:

KAREN
What’s going on Simon?

SIMON
Departmental business. About a wall.

KAREN Gaza?

SIMON
Uh-huh. What can I do for you?

KAREN
Where were you in the committee? I called for back-up, you sat there like a dumb sack of shit. Maybe worse, cos at a molecular level a bag of shit is probably fizzing with energy.

SIMON
Well - okay. Yes. Um. Well, I have to say Karen, I have a clear strategy here. I’m playing the long game.

Paul Michaelson calls over.

PAUL MICHAELSON
I’m still here, Simon.

KAREN
There is no long game. They’ve bounced us into a short game. You looked like a...what do you call it in England? A 'wanker
SIMON
We don't call it that, no...

But she's gone.

INT. CONSTITUENCY SURGERY - DAY

(CHANGE SCENE ORDER)

Toby's still talking to Paul the wall guy.

TOBY
Sorry. But I'm on your side. I have to look after my Mum too. You do, or they get shafted don't they? So...

Simon wants to talk.

SIMON
Roz - can you talk to Paul for a moment because...

PAUL MICHAELSON
Oh right! Fob number two.

SIMON
No, I'm sorry. National security, I just need to...

PAUL MICHAELSON
Fobbed to him, fobbed to her. Who’s next? A tiny child? A dog? A tiny dog? There are some biscuits over there -- shall I talk to the biscuits?

Simon is now hovering in the corner.

TOBY
(signalling to Simon, don't worry, I'll take care of this. Watch this.)

Look, Paul, why don’t I give you the number of my cell.

PAUL MICHAELSON
Mobile.

TOBY Mobile.

ROZ
Have you got a mobile Paul?
Of course I’ve got a mobile. What do you think I am? A pykey?

Of course he’s got a mobile.

Five megapixels.

Roz leads Paul away.

Mr Michaelson. Come with me and let’s see if we can sort your wall out.

How can you sort a wall out? Look at your arm!

It’s a sprain, it doesn’t stop me from making...

I’m going to pursue this with, what do they call it? Extreme prejudice, to the very end. I can be enormously persistent. Ask my ex-girlfriend.

Okay, well, I’ll take your details.

Fuck.

Malcolm is with Simon and Toby. Malcolm has a local Northamptonshire paper.

(reading)
“While Foster jets around at the taxpayer’s expense, his constituency headquarter’s wall’s collapsing and he doesn’t give a shit.

It doesn’t say that.

No but it says ‘Wall-ace and Gromitt’
SIMON
Wall-ace though?

MALCOLM
You are being portrayed as the biggest twat in Northamptonshire, and that’s going some.

TOBY
It is just a wall, Malcolm.

MALCOLM
Listen, my little stem cell, I don’t want to be dealing with this either, okay? I’ve got bigger fucking fish to fry, believe me. I’m rolling blue whales in breadcrumbs at the moment. I’m giving this to Jamie.

SIMON
Oh great. The crossest man in Scotland.

MALCOLM
Don’t say that to his face.

Jamie enters, holding another local rag.

JAMIE
Well, if it isn’t Humpty-Numpty...

SIMON
What is this, surround bollocking?

JAMIE
With respect, I haven’t finished. If it isn’t Humpty-Numpty, sitting on top of a collapsing wall like some clueless egg-cunt.

SIMON
Hi Jamie.

TOBY Hello.

JAMIE
Okay, that’s enough of the fucking Oxbridge pleasantries.

TOBY
How is saying “hello” a...
JAMIE

(grabbing a hole-puncher)
Shut it, Love, Actually, or I’ll hole-punch your face.

MALCOLM
Right, it’s all kicking off at the UN. (to Simon) See you at The Foreign Office. Meantime, my small but perfectly informed colleague here will be managing this little basket of cock and chips. I’m off to deal with the fate of the planet, okay?

Simon, Toby and Jamie look at him.

MALCOLM (CONT'D)
Don't look at me like that's arrogant. That is just a fucking fact. Don't even look at me.
(to Jamie)
Be gentle with them.

JAMIE
You know me, Malcy, kid gloves. Made from real kids.

Malcolm leaves.

An awkward beat.

JAMIE (CONT'D)
Right, Butch and Gaydance, this wall story is playing badly.

(looking in his paper)
Look, here’s a cartoon of you as a walrus.

SIMON
A walrus? I’m not fat. I don’t even have a moustache.

JAMIE
Walrus. Wall-rus? Oh for fuck’s sake. All that matters is you’re a fucking walrus, alright?

TOBY
Look...we hired some builders. They didn’t turn up when they said they would.

JAMIE
They're builders. What did you expect?!

(MORE)
JAMIE (CONT'D)
Have you ever seen a film where the hero is a builder? No. Because they never turn up in the fucking nick of time. That's why you never see a superhero with a hod.

SIMON
We also then sent someone else round and they put up temporary buttresses...

JAMIE
That's your headline response? 'We Put Up Temporary Buttresses, Says Flailing Walrus Fuck'.

INT. WESTMINSTER PUB - DAY
Suzy, Michael and Judy are having a drink in a pub. Maybe they're sitting in a four seater booth? Their phones are on the table. As is a bottle of Sancerre. Judy’s got her power walking trainers on and her rucksack with her.

JUDY
My theory is Malcolm built him in a lab out of bits of old psychopath.

Toby arrives, dumps his coat, bag, puts his phone on the table.

TOBY
Hello ladies.

SUZY
And gentleman.

TOBY
(doiing the joke again)
Hello ladies.

SUZY
Be nice. Michael’s had a visit from the Jock Stress Monster.

MICHAEL
I'm fine. I boarded at Winchester, I'm used to being shouted at.

TOBY
I'm just going to -

SUZY
He's looking for leaks.
MICHAEL
Oh. Lovely. I think we could have another bottle of Sancerre.

TOBY Great.

SUZY
If you can afford it.

JUDY
If you can get served at the bar.

He goes to the bar. His phone gets a text. Suzy picks it up, reads it.

SUZY
Fucking hell. Here we go again. Fucking arsehole.

MICHAEL
You’re kidding? What’s it say?
   (peering at the phone) Woah!

Suzy shows the phone to Judy.

JUDY
What a twat.
   (beat)
What are you doing? Are you replying?

Suzy’s texting on Toby’s mobile. Toby’s coming back. Suzy puts the phone back down.

TOBY
Yeah I wouldn't want to meet Jamie in a dark alley. Or a bright alley. The whole thing of just being in an alley with him would be scary, regardless of the lighting.

SUZY
He is quite frightening. But then you're not much of a man.

MICHAEL
Yeah, I remember his first d...

Suzy cuts in.

SUZY
You’ve got a text.

TOBY
(reading, covering)
Oh yeah. It’s just Rob about football.
SUZY
So, this Liza. You shagged her?

TOBY
What? No.

SUZY
(to Judy)
Did you realise he was ball-deep in some Washington wonk??

TOBY
Could we not talk about accusations and, health issues, in the pub?

SUZY
I’m okay to talk about it now.

SUZY
Why did you do it?

TOBY
I don’t know, it was a weird, intense time over there. It was...maybe, subconsciously, I don't know, it was a kind of last ditch attempt to stop this, awful...war.

A beat. Michael and Judy dissolve into laughter.

MICHAEL
That’s classic. That’s definitely going in the memoirs.

SUZY
You had sex because of the war?

TOBY
In the broad sense.
(to Judy and Michael)
Sorry, can you stop doing that? Can we go somewhere where they’re aren’t enormous children eating snacks?

78

INT. NUMBER TEN. MALCOLM’S OFFICE - DAY

Jamie and Malcolm.

JAMIE
I went to see that film There Will Be Blood right? Fucking great title for a film.

(MORE)
'Want to see a film?' 'I dunno, will there be blood?' 'There will be blood'. 'Right, I'm fucking in.' Great title for a film, you couldn't have a better title for a film. Apart from, maybe, There Will Be Tits. Basically, you could have a cinema that shows There Will Be Blood and There Will Be Tits and we don't need any other films. That's the end of cinema right there.

MALCOLM
Is this going anywhere?

JAMIE
I went to see There Will Be Blood. There wasn't any fucking blood.

MALCOLM
There was some blood.

JAMIE
There was hardly any fucking blood. So what I want to know is will there be war?

MALCOLM
My guess is there will be war.

JAMIE
Oh right. Interesting. Have you had a look in the soldier box lately? What we gonna send? Two lads from the Territorial Army armed with biros?

MALCOLM
No we're not going to do that. For a start, we're out of biros. But, It Will Be Fine.

JAMIE
Oh fine, as long as It Will Be Fine.

MALCOLM
It will all be fine.

JAMIE
Good. Happy days.

MALCOLM
So, listen, I need intel. I need you to go into the Foreign Office, into International Development, and give them a shake-down.

(MORE)
Explain they need to shift their soggy bad-trouserered arses and give us the gold they’ve been sitting on for so long.

JAMIE
So, what? Give them the third degree?

MALCOLM
Don’t worry, You’ll find stuff. It Will be There. Go through them, one by one, from the most senior civil servant down to the lowliest of the fucking low.

JAMIE
What, the work experience kids?

MALCOLM
No, the ministers. Do you see what I did there?

JAMIE
Nice. I see what you did there.

MALCOLM
It’s observational comedy. It’s funny cos it’s true.

They head off in opposite directions.

Judy punches a button on her phone. Toby’s land line starts ringing. Judy comes out. She’s just transferred the call.

JUDY
Tobes, that’s for you.

TOBY
(to Judy)
What’s this?

JUDY
It’s the mad man about the wall.

TOBY
The war?

JUDY
The wall.

Judy heads into Simon’s office.
TOBY
What can I do for you Paul?

PAUL MICHAELSON
(OS, on phone )
These ‘temporary buttresses’ you got put up.

TOBY
Right?

INT. PAUL MICHAELSON’S GARDEN/INT. DFID – CONTINUOUS

Wall man Paul is on the phone, standing with a JOURNALIST by the offending wall, now badly propped up. The journalist is taking notes and photographs.

INTERCUT PHONE CALL:

PAUL MICHAELSON
They're basically a pair of twigs. Thin twigs.

TOBY
I'm sure they're not twigs.

PAUL MICHAELSON
No they're twigs.
(to Journalist)
Are you getting a picture of those twigs? That wall could fall on my mum and crush her. Do you know how old she is?

(calling off)
How old are you mum?

MUM (O.S.)
Sixty.

During this conversation Malcolm arrives.

MALCOLM
I want a word with the minister and Charlotte Fucking Bronte.

PAUL MICHAELSON
You're never fucking sixty. You're older than that. Sixty. How old are you really?

MUM (O.S.)
I'm sixty. If it's going in a newspaper, I'm sixty.
PAUL MICHAELSON
Fuck off are you sixty. Olivia Newton-John's fucking sixty. And she's not on the statins, is she?

TOBY
Could you tell your mum to stay away from the wall just for the time being?

PAUL MICHAELSON
She needs to get to her plants.
(like Toby's an idiot)
She has to water them. Plants need water. Or they die. Do you want my mother to be in a garden full of dead plants?

TOBY
No, sure, but could she use a hose, from a distance?

PAUL MICHAELSON
She doesn't have a hose, she's got a watering can. This is like talking to a brick wall about a brick wall.
(to journalist)
Get that down, that's gold.

INT. DFID - CONTINUOUS

All is relatively peaceful in the open-plan office. People working away.

Jamie storms in, alongside the frightened-looking IT GUY.

JAMIE
(to the entire office)
Hello, shits! Put your knickers on, it's the IT Sweeney.
We are here to strip search your computers. Haven't we...fat man whose name I've forgotten?

IT GUY
Yes.

They march in, Jamie heads past Judy's desk.

JAMIE
(to the room)
It's only intelligence we're after. We could be here a while.
(MORE)
Hey! Look! It's Leaky Woman! You want to do some pelvic floor exercises darling, because I hear you're pissing intel everywhere.

JUDY
I didn’t leak anything. And I won’t be intimidated by some Cro Magnon Scottish dwarf.

JAMIE
(even closer?)
Whoa. Is this us exploring personal boundaries? You fucking stuck-up toffee pudding bitch.

Jamie smiles. His phone goes.

JAMIE (CONT'D)
(friendly)
Hi. Yeah. Yeah. Look, I’m just in the middle of something can I call you back? Okay, great.
(phone down)
So where were we? Oh yeah. You know, I’m actually aroused at the thought of giving you a long hard disciplinary hearing.

JUDY
Oh I’d love you to give me a long hard disciplinary hearing? Cos at the end I’d have a big fat compensation payment. So go ahead give me one.

JAMIE
I’d like to give you one.

JUDY
Well, I’d love you to give me one.

Jamie’s come to the end of the line, they head into Simon’s office.

Simon and Judy on their way into the foreign office. Malcolm has gone in ahead. Suzy chatting on the stairs with Toby.

Simon draws Judy to one side.

SIMON
This is all getting...this is a really stressful job, you know that?
JUDY
Oh come on, you’re not a brain surgeon, you’re not a snooker player ...

SIMON
But I do have to go Northamptonshire to talk to a mentalist. And I got treated to a special performance of the Scottish play in Number 10 with Big Macbeth and Wee Jamie Macbeth.

JUDY
Ah. Is that what this is about?

SIMON
I don’t want to back a war, Judy.

JUDY
(oh this is what it’s about)
Oh. Right.

A beat.

SIMON
Look, drop some hints, put some nods and winks out there, that I’m toying with resignation. Yeah? See if the PM reacts. See how it plays.

JUDY
Not my purview, get Toby to do it.

SIMON
No, I want you to do it. War beats purview, Judy. Like stone beats scissors. War...
   (he makes a grabbing claw with his hand)
...beats wall...
   (he holds his hand up to denote a wall)
...beats purview.
   (he thinks for a second how to represent ‘purview’ then does a gentle little Oliver Hardy wave)

JUDY
Put out some winks?

SIMON
And nods.
JUDY

Big nods?

SIMON

No, no, just sort of...

(he does a small nod)

That sort of size nod.

Judy nods.

SIMON (CONT'D)

No, not that much.

JUDY

No, I was just nodding normally to say I understood the need for a small nod.

SIMON

Oh. Good.

They head in.

INT. FOREIGN OFFICE - DAY

In a nice room. Malcolm is with Michael, Suzy and a couple of other civil servants.

MALCOLM

So, my lovely friends, bottom line...

MICHAEL

I hate that phrase. We’re not in retailing

MALCOLM

Sorry Michael, I promise never to use it again. Bottom line, is that the President is going to the UN, and the PM would like us to join him so we’re not stuck on our own like the tiny little island we actually are but no-one wants to admit.

Toby, Simon, and Judy arrive

MALCOLM (CONT’D)

You’re eighteen seconds late.

SIMON

Is this the UN? Why couldn’t you have told me this in our previous horrible meeting? Why did I have to come to another building?
MALCOLM
Because I am now talking on the record, and you can tell that because there is gravity in my voice and I’m not wearing fucking pyjamas. So, Rob, Innis,
(to Toby)
Little Bo Cock Jockey
(to judy)
And the leaky fucking mingebox, return to your desks and prepare for some extreme briefing.

Two CIVIL SERVANTS get up and exit. Judy walks across the room and starts making calls, as does Toby. They can both still hear Malcolm and Simon’s conversation. Michael grabs his phone and stands up.

MICHAEL
Should we call Donald Stebbing at the DST and Paul in Fatty’s office, get a steer on their statements?

MALCOLM
Yes, the bottom line is, I would like you to do that.

Michael walks off into the next room, Suzy follows. They start calling.

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
Now then, you still got doubts, Complicated Simon?

SIMON
What the fuck, Malcolm. This is all going to spin along from here and we have a vote and we go to war. We fight people, and kill them, and our kids get killed, and that’s exactly the sort of thing I didn’t want to do when I went into politics. That’s the opposite of what I want to be doing.

MALCOLM
That’s why you’ve got to stay in Government. In here you can influence things, delay things. Out there you’re just another mad shouty fucker people don’t want to make eye-contact with. Remember Mary? She took a stand over Health. Everyone decided she was mental.
SIMON
Only because the Sun showed a photo of her with wide eyes and her head on a cow.

MALCOLM
I found that a very powerful image.
   (a beat)
Look, the Prime Minister of this country is not a Viking. He doesn't drink blood, he doesn't go round biting tramps. He doesn't go to Chequers at the weekend for a bit of light raping and a pub lunch.

SIMON
I know the Prime Minister isn't a Viking, Malcolm.

MALCOLM
Unlike me, the man abhors physical violence. He's never, knowingly, killed a man in a drunken rage outside a Cardiff nightclub. He's a grade A fucking pussy and he knows you have similar concerns and he wants your input on this. Yeah?

SIMON
Good. Because, I have concerns, non-pussy concerns. Where's the intelligence? Where's the hard evidence?

MALCOLM
Listen, we have intelligence so deep and hard it would fucking puncture your kidneys. Jamie's collating it as we speak. There's an informant, 'Ice Man', OK? The stuff he's giving us? It'll make your blood run cold. And clot. Your insides will turn to black pudding.
   (lowering his voice)
...but certain box-lickers are sitting on it, and weighing it up in committees and think tanks and wank bins. But you're going to see it, because the PM regards you as a key player now.

Judy's puts her head in.
JUDY
(to Simon)
Prime Minister wants to speak to you in ten minutes, Simon.

Malcolm’s heading out.

MALCOLM
See - you’re A-list now. In the VIP lounge, with the gold card and the complimentary drinks and the hard-on. You’re a fucking Kennedy.

Malcolm leaves. A beat.

SIMON
(shouting to Malcolm)
Show me the evidence, Malcolm, that’s my fucking bottom line.

Michael on his way past back into his office.

MICHAEL
Don’t you start as well.

INT. TOBY’S FLAT - EVENING

Toby lets himself into the flat. Goes through to the kitchen. Suzy is there with Michael.

TOBY
What the fuck is he doing here?

SUZY
What?! What the fuck are you doing here?

TOBY
Well I live here.

SUZY
No you don’t actually. (to Michael)
I’ll go make that tea.

Suzy and Toby go into the kitchen.

SUZY (CONT’D)
He’s having a hard time. Jamie thinks he’s got evidence that Michael is having an affair ...

TOBY
I always thought he was gay.
MICHAEL
(calling through)
I’ll take that as a come on.

TOBY
Oh that’s very kind of you. But no thanks.
(to Suzy)
What kind of affair? Who with? You? Is this some affair-themed date?

SUZY
That’s none of your business. Don’t be ridiculous.

TOBY
So he’s allowed to have an affair is he? He gets tea. I get thrown out. My tea by the way.

SUZY
You are so tight. And nothing actually happened. He just sent affectionate emails and you got into her knickers.

TOBY
Yeah but he’s from a different generation and if he was from my generation he would have got into her knickers and I never sent affectionate emails.

SUZY
No you sent obscene texts.

TOBY
(beat)
I’m taking my brie. And the port. And my Nando’s peri-peri sauce.

They go back out into the living room.

SUZY
Don’t forget your hydrocortisone.

TOBY
You putting this in your memoirs as well?

MICHAEL
I should go.

SUZY
No, it’s fine. Stay.
Toby is in the bedroom. A few boxes are lying around. He’s putting clothes into bin liners. Suzy is hovering. Michael brings through some teas. The atmosphere is very frosty and awkward.

Toby
Where’s my needlecord jacket?

Suzy
Your geography teacher’s jacket?

Toby
My corduroy jacket.

Suzy
Did you take it to Washington? Maybe Liza’s wearing it. Maybe it’s fashionable there.

Toby thinks better of responding. Starts folding some shirts. Michael takes over

Michael
That’s not how you fold.

Toby
Michael, this is one of the more humiliating moments of my life. I can pack a bag.

Michael
The key to travelling is packing.

Toby
I’m not going to fucking Fiji Michael, I’m being chucked out of my house.

Michael
It’ll save time the other end.

Toby
There is no other end.

Toby moves through to the kitchen to get his jeans. Suzy and Michael follow.

Suzy
Has she got big tits?

Toby
Massive. Enormous. You can see them on Google Earth. They’ve got their own postcode.
Toby gets his jeans and some other clothes. He's laden down with boxes and bags and can hardly see. Comes out into the hall. Suzy is there without Michael.

TOBY (CONT’D)
See you then.

SUZY
Okay.

Toby struggles to open the front door. Suzy opens it.

Toby goes to leave then stops.

TOBY
Look, Suzy, this is probably going to sound odd under the circumstances.

SUZY Quickie?

TOBY
No. Thank you. But no. It’s about Liza.

SUZY
Oh good tell me more, tell me more about her tits.

TOBY
Listen, Suze, Liza wrote a paper, Pwip-Pip. I think, if it got leaked, it could stop the war.

He holds out a memory stick.

MICHAEL
Good tactic. Get earnest. I tried that with the wife. Didn’t work.

SUZY
You are such a fucking coward, you know that? And this is what? A make up leak?

TOBY
Does such a thing exist?

SUZY
Toby, take your rubbish clothes and your back issues of Mojo and your eighth of dope and leave me the fuck alone.

Toby leaves the memory stick in the flat. Then heads out.
EXT. PAUL MICHAELSON' GARDEN - DAY

(CHANGE SCENE ORDER)

Simon is with Roz in Paul Michaelson’ garden. Paul’s mum has a camcorder.

PAUL MICHAELSON
You seen those buttresses? Twigs! Thin Twigs!

SIMON
Right. Can I just say again how very sorry I am. That's the reason I've come down here.

PAUL MICHAELSON
(re. Roz)
Why’s the one-armed bandit here? Protection?

ROZ
We’re both here to help. The minister doesn’t need protecting.

SIMON
Unless you try to hit me. You’re not going to hit me are you?

Paul gestures -- don’t know, might do.

SIMON (CONT’D)
It’s... obviously, being a Cabinet Minister I’ve been extremely busy and...

PAUL MICHAELSON
Don’t patronise me. We’re all busy. I bet you find time to eat. I bet you eat all the bloody time in fancy bistros..

SIMON
There’ll be a builder over here in five minutes, and he and I will take care of the wall.

Simon's phone goes.

SIMON (CONT'D)
I'll just leave you two to...excuse me.

Simon goes away from Roz and Paul to answers his phone. In the background, Roz gets a call.
EXT. PAUL MICHAELSON'S GARDEN/INT. MALCOLM'S OFFICE - DAY

SIMON

Malcolm.

INTERCUT WITH:

MALCOLM

Minister. The PM wants you at the UN. Thinks you can put the brakes on the Americans. He likes your spine and your balls. He thinks you're a big fuck-off exoskeleton covered in testes. You're spunky to them. In a good way.

SIMON

I don't know. Where's the evidence that Jamie was supposed to find?

MALCOLM

On its way. He's just finishing it. It's huge.
What you gonna do? You coming? To the land of the free and the home of the obese?

Roz is taking her call, leaving Paul Michaelson on his own for a moment.

PAUL MICHAELSON

I thought you said there was a builder coming?

SIMON

There is. Roz, what's the latest on the builder?

ROZ

He's stuck in traffic. But he says he's only ten minutes away.

SIMON

Ten minutes.

PAUL MICHAELSON

He was five minutes before. He's going back in time. What's he driving, a Delorian?

A beat.
INT. CAR - DAY
Simon, Toby and Judy are on the way to Heathrow.

SIMON
Should I resign? I’ve floated that I might, when I thought I wouldn’t, so it’ll look convincing if I did. I mean, do you think, is it braver to just resign and say, ‘No, no war’?

JUDY
Yes.

SIMON
Or is it actually braver to say, ‘I don’t agree, but I’m going to grit my teeth and get on with it?’ Is the really brave thing actually doing what you don’t believe?

JUDY
No.

TOBY
Though -- maybe? What’s brave about doing the ‘right thing’? Nothing. Doing the wrong thing is braver. In a way. I mean, you know, wars sometimes work. The War of Independence, that worked. For the Americans. Second World War. That was a good idea. I mean not a good idea but ...

SIMON
I know what you mean. And the Crimean War -- we got nurses out of that.

TOBY
Nurses are good.

SIMON
(as if they’ve achieved something) Exactly. So...right. Exactly.

JUDY
So you’re not resigning?

SIMON
No,
INT. NEW YORK AIRPORT. DAY.

Simon and Toby are walking past a baggage carousel. Someone from Fatty's entourage is lifting massive bags onto trolleys.

TOBY
Jesus, even Fatty's bags are fucking huge. What's he got in there?

SIMON
Suckling pig. Cask of ale. Respirator...
(conspiratorially to Toby)
In the motorcade. Let's get a car without Judy.

TOBY
You want hookers? You like hooky fucky?

SIMON
I want to talk about the resigning thing.

TOBY Still?

SIMON
But with you and not her.

INT. LIMO - DAY

Simon and Toby looking very uptight. Malcolm's with them.

MALCOLM
(looking at phone)
So. The wires are all currently reporting that you're going to resign from government over the war.

SIMON
What? That wasn't supposed to get outside.

MALCOLM
Yeah well it is outside. It's lurking outside like a big hairy rapist at a coach station.

Simon looks to Toby for help.
Simon’s relaxed about people thinking he might resign.

Am I? Oh yeah, I am. Because...

Because you’re not going to resign?

That’s right. I just got Judy to float the possibility that I would resign. Leverage. (Says it with US pronunciation)

Leverage. (UK pronunciation)

You’re being sarcastic?

Well spotted. You’re a smart guy.

Malcolm, Simon, Toby and Judy are being led through a bleak, soulless basement corridor in the UN by Sir Jonathan Tutt, the British ambassador to the UN.

This is it gentlemen. The United Nations.

It’s all a bit ‘blurrrgh’, isn’t it?

This is even more disappointing than the State Department. And that looked like it had been built out of the off-cuts of other more interesting bureaucracies.

It could do with a few more scatter cushions and a bit less asbestos.
MALCOLM
It’s a shithole. It looks like a hospice for robots.

They pass a big office.

SIR JONATHAN
Linton Barwick is in there. Karen Clark is there. You’re right here. It’s literally a corridor of power. You can almost feel it throbbing can’t you?

Sir Jonathan shows them to their office.

SIR JONATHAN (CONT’D)
If you need anything, just whistle. You know how to whistle don’t you Malcolm? You just put your lips together and blow.

Malcolm and Toby look at one another.

SIR JONATHAN (CONT’D)
Right. I’m off upstairs to the informal delegates’ reception. Hope there’s nibbles, I’m ravenous.

Sir Jonathan leaves.

MALCOLM
Nibbles? Who still says nibbles?

TOBY
Fuck the nibbles, what was with the homoerotic tension?

Malcolm gets a call.

MALCOLM
Jamie. Hello?

He looks at his phone.

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
No fucking signal down here. Jesus.

He leaves the room.

INT. NUMBER 10 - SAME TIME

Jamie is on the phone, running down a corridor.
Okay, your phone’s off, which means you’ve been shot dead by a fat American, but there’s been a fucktastrophe. Someone’s leaked Liza Weld’s Pwip Pip paper to the BBC. I reckon it’ll be on the Six O’Clock news here, one o’clock your time, so it’s going to fist your fucking vote apart. Missing you loads, pwip-pip, toodle-oo!

Malcolm finishing listening to his voicemail, dialling and running back into the building, pushing past a crowd of smokers at the doorway.

Okay Jamie, this is your mission, should you choose to accept it. Find out who leaked Pwip Pip. Jump up and down on them until they are dead. Then find out who’s got it at the BBC. Go over there and waterboard them with their own fucking frappacino. We need them to dither about until after the vote, yeah? Then it’s all fist bumps and shooty fucking bang-bang. I love you.

Malcolm drags the ambassador away from some guests into a corner.

I was talking there, Mr Tucker. What the bloody hell...? This isn’t prison.

Okay it doesn’t matter who leaked it that’s happened. We’re in a new reality now and You’ve got to speed things up.

What things? Speed up what?

The debate. It needs to start at eleven o’clock, not one thirty.
SIR JONATHAN
Hehe. Can I perhaps briefly explain the way the process works? And why that isn’t possible? You see through that door there are a number of secretariats that are currently doing what we call the washing up now...

MALCOLM
Just fucking do it, fishlips. Otherwise you’ll find yourself in some medieval warzone in the caucasus with your arse in the air, trying to persuade a group of men in balaclavas that sustained sexual violence is not the way forward.

SIR JONATHAN
No, it can’t be. I mean it could be done, it just can’t.

MALCOLM
Then I’ll do it. (motioning to a door)
They’re through there?

SIR JONATHAN
Yes but you can’t go in, that would be a serious breach of protocol ...

He’s blocking Malcolm. Malcolm grabs his hand.

MALCOLM
Then you do it. Get in there.

On the other side of the room, Linton is with Chad. Linton’s furious.

LINTON
Chad, this leak means I am experiencing a period of dis-equilibrium. My mental landscape could best be described as - unsettled. I am, to put it plainly - not in good humour. Did it come from you Chad?

Chad suspects it might have come from him.

CHAD
No not from me, no Sir. I would never breach national security. Not unless I was directed to by someone such as yourself acting in a higher national interest.
Then how the expletive have the BBC got this Chad?

I really don’t know sir.

"I really don’t know." That’s not good enough Chad. I’m very very annoyed. And what disappoints me is that a) you don’t know what’s happened here and b) you don’t even have the presence of mind to fabricate a plausible answer for your superior.

"I really don’t know." It’s your job to know, Chad. What’s your job?

To know sir.

What is it?

To know.

Your job is to what?

Know.

Do you have a job with me any more?

A beat.

Yes?

Try again, Chad.

Malcolm is on the phone to Jamie.

Where’s the intel? Are you sure you’re working as hard as me? Cos I’m sweating spinal fluid here. I’m a husk.
Miller wanders by.

MILLER
You get everything you need?

MALCOLM
(in a hurry)
Oh yeah I think so. Thanks.
(a beat, thinks)
Oh, Whoa whoa whoa just a wee moment
General Flintstone. Was it you? Did you leak Pwip Pip? I know you can’t fire a gun, but can you use a fax?

MILLER
No, see, because I’m upfront about what I do. I don’t creep around like some fucking gay mercenary doing other people’s dirty work.

MALCOLM
I’m doing my own work. I’m doing my job.

MILLER
Uh-hu. I think you’re doing Linton’s dirty work. I think you’re his English bitch and if I walked into your hotel room tonight I’d find you on all fours in fishnets and him hanging out the back of you.

MALCOLM
Oooo. Tough talk from the armchair General. What you going to do? Throw a cushion at me? Put your feet up on a poof and go back to sleep why don’t you?

GENERAL MILLER
Listen, Tucker, you may be some scary poodlefucker back in London, but here?
You know what you look like? A fucking squeezed dick. You got a blue vein running all the way up to your temple there. That’s where I’d put the fucking bullet. But I’d stand well back. You look like you’d be a squirter.

MALCOLM
Have you ever even killed anybody?
Really?

GENERAL MILLER
Yep.
MALCOLM
Falling asleep on someone doesn't count.

GENERAL MILLER
(closer)
I've done my share. How many you kill, pussy drip?

MALCOLM
Personally, I prefer maiming.

GENERAL MILLER
Go on, tough guy, take a swing at me. I'll smack you so fucking hard you'll be shitting teeth.

MALCOLM
Go ahead. I can see the headlines now. 'Peace-Loving General Starts Fight In UN, Swiss Intervene'. I don't know, I'm no expert on spin but could that hurt your career?

They eyeball each other. Is Miller going to hit him? He doesn't.

MALCOLM (CONT'D)
Right. Do excuse me. I've got work to do. Oh, and don't EVER call me fucking English again.

INT. UN CONFERENCE ROOM - DAY

Sir Jonathan walks in. A lot of faces are turned towards him, expectantly.

SIR JONATHAN
Hello everyone. It's all going very smoothly isn't it? Tremendously well. I was wondering if I might suggest a cheeky early vote? Bit of an adventure. Maybe, we could knock off early, go for a drink? Ha. I'm kidding. Or am I? No, I am.

INT. UN CORRIDOR - DAY

Linton is ushering Fatty and his advisors into his office. Simon looks at them as walks past them into Karen Clark's office. He knows he's a no-mark now for definite.
Miller are looking at a computer screen, presumably reading about Simon’s floated resignation.

KAREN
(looking at computer)
There it is. Simon’s going. Everyone’s saying he’s going.

Simon passes their open door.

GENERAL MILLER
(spotting Simon)
Simon! There he is! Simon.
(re internet)
This is great shit. I wasn’t sure you had the nerve. You’re resigning?

SIMON
Ah okay. They’re not running with that? I have not said that.

GENERAL MILLER
You’re not resigning?

SIMON
Well not as such. But I’m not afraid to float it. I’ve got the nerve to float. That takes a bit of nerve.

KAREN
You’re still playing the hawk?

SIMON
It’s much subtler than that. It’s nuanced. I’m playing a much cleverer game than that. I’m a (whispering) fake hawk.

GENERAL MILLER
I’m sorry?

SIMON
(whispering)
Fake hawk.

GENERAL MILLER
You’re a fake hawk? You’re a fucking idiot. You’re not a fake idiot are you.

Linton passes, sees Simon, comes in.

LINTON
Excuse me a second.

Karen and Miller go into a confab.
Simon, I’m hearing some odd things coming out of old London Town...

Karen and Miller look over, waiting to hear Simon’s answer.

Yeah -- about me resigning? Yeah. ‘BS’.

Karen and Miller immediately go into a huddle and start planning Simon’s future.

I heard it was your senior Civil Service Press Secretary. What’s the explanation?

It was her. But, she’s mentally ill. A bit.

She’s mentally ill?

A bit. It’s sad.

Okay well, you’re still with us. Terrific.

You’re on the right side.

He leaves.

(to General Miller, as if Simon’s not there)

We could just tell the press he’s going anyway. Say he’s confirmed to us that he’s resigning.

Sorry?

I second that.

What? You can’t.

Do we announce it before or after the vote?
KAREN
During. Then he can’t do anything about it.

GENERAL MILLER
Great. That’s decided then.

SIMON
No. No it’s bloody not. I’m - me. You’re not me. I decide about all the main things about me, okay? Not you. Me.

GENERAL MILLER
No. No Simon. I’m afraid not. Not on this one. This is too big for you.

KAREN
Be realistic. You’re being used. We all are. The one thing we can do now to influence things is to resign. Sacrifice ourselves. That’s our only weapon.

SIMON
Like a suicide bomber?

GENERAL MILLER
No, not like a suicide bomber. A suicide bomber gets to make a decision.

They usher Simon out of the room.

KAREN
I’m going George. I’m definitely going, this is intolerable. Are you with me?

GENERAL MILLER
It is intolerable. I’m with you.

INT. ANOTHER UN OFFICE – DAY

Toby and Liza are sitting near each other on the floor working on laptops. They’re at right-angles to each other. Toby has a view of Liza. She’s facing away from him.

TOBY
Listen, I’m really sorry about Suzy and the texting and ...

LIZA
Good. Thanks. Do you have figures there for CFE minimum requirements?
TOBY Er?

LIZA
Conventional Forces in Europe.

TOBY
Sure. I’ll just dig that out.
(beat, taps on his laptop, then very quietly)
Look it was a very special evening for me and ...

LIZA
(pissed off)

TOBY
I just wandered if tonight when all this shit is over we couldn’t - you know. You’re single. I’m single now. You’re a woman. I’m not.

LIZA
You want to have sex again?

TOBY
It’s not a terrible idea is it? One more. For the Gipper?

LIZA
You know what a douchbag is Toby? You’re a douchbag on fucking wheels.

TOBY
Thanks. That was short and sweet. Well, short and sour.

INT. UN MEDITATION ROOM – DAY

Simon is sitting in the Meditation Room, a stark chapel-like room with a big piece of granite in the middle of it. He’s biting his nails, thinking.

Judy comes in.

JUDY
You okay?

SIMON
I’m thinking of becoming a suicide bomber.

JUDY
That’s certainly a very powerful way of getting your point across.
He pulls out some mints.

SIMON
Would you like a mint?

JUDY
I'm okay thanks. Are you thinking to overdose on mints? Because...

Simon eats a mint.

He's lost in his own world. Staring, maybe slightly nodding at the thoughts in his own head.

SIMON
Do you like me Judy?

JUDY
You're my boss.

SIMON
Yeah, but do you actually like me.

A beat.

JUDY
Sure. Look, I'll leave you to your thoughts.

SIMON
I haven't got any thoughts. I'm just staring vacantly into space while a distant voice in the back of my head goes “oh shit” like a car alarm in the middle of the night.

Simon eats another mint. Sits there noisily sucking it. Judy leaves.

INT. FOREIGN OFFICE - DAY

Michael and Suzy are sitting talking in an FO office.

Jamie bursts in.

JAMIE
Was it you?

MICHAEL Sorry?

JAMIE
Not you. I know it wasn’t you, you’re too fucking horny for your Knighthood.

(MORE)
JAMIE (CONT'D)
You’ve probably already ordered your Sir Michael Shitmuncher stationary haven’t you?
    (TO SUZY)
Was it you?

SUZY
Was what me?

JAMIE
Was it fucking you!? Answer the question!

MICHAEL
She can’t very well answer the question if you don’t tell her what it is, can she?

JAMIE
Oh, right, typical Foreign Office bullshit liberal sophistry. It’s dipshits like you that threw away a nice fucking repressive Empire.
    (to Suzy)
Was it you?

SUZY
Was what me? I have no idea ...

MICHAEL
Look, maybe you should go away and leave us alone until you at least have a question that can be answered by a rational human being?

JAMIE
Fuck off to your room, Count of Cunty
Cristo, this is between me and her.
    (to Suzy)
You leaked Liza Weld’s paper to the BBC. Tell me you leaked it.

SUZY
I didn’t leak anything. I don’t know what you’re talking about.

JAMIE
You’re lying. You touched your nose.
That’s what’s called a ‘tell’. You are lying.

SUZY
No I’m not.

JAMIE
‘No I’m not.’ That’s a tell as well.
Classic.
SUZY
Well look, it’s great to get all this amateur psychological insight for free, but I didn’t do it, so I’m not going to say I did okay? I’m just not?

JAMIE
(changing tack to terror)
I know the leak came from here, from this fucking fax machine here.

He pushes a fax casually off the table onto the floor.

JAMIE (CONT’D)
This is what I’m doing to the machine. (he kicks it, hard till bits start to break off, but he’s still quite controlled talking, as he kicks more)
You see? This is how angry I am with the piece of office equipment which leaked this document, so can you imagine how angry I am with the person who did it? Yeah? Can you Suzy?

He kicks the fax machine again.

SUZY Right.

JAMIE
But let’s try and keep this professional, yeah? So. For the last time. Was it you?

MICHAEL
It was me.

JAMIE
Oh fuck off. Don’t come over all Spartacus now.

MICHAEL
I leaked it.

JAMIE
What?

Advances on Michael, becomes aware of the music. Jamie points to the CD player.

JAMIE (CONT’D)
Okay for a start turn that fucking row off. It’s just fucking vowels. Listen to it. Just subsidised fucking foreign vowels.

(MORE)
JAMIE (CONT’D)
You only listen to that shit because it’s bad form to actually wear a big hat that says “I went to public school”.

Michael doesn’t turn it off, so Jamie does.

JAMIE (CONT’D)
Who did you leak it to?

MICHAEL
I just sent it. Any name at bbc dot co dot uk. I thought it was important so I sent it through.

JAMIE
(coniders then, )
Okay, right, fine, good. You hear that? Great. That’s your career over. Boom. Right there. That’s it. No job, no pension. Can you play the spoons? Cos that’s what you’ll be banging for a living? Outside Brixton Tube. Good. This is all great.

Jamie is heading off.

MICHAEL
Well, you know -- better to go out with a bang...

JAMIE
No, no. I will not allow this to be a bang. This will be a whimper, a tiny pathetic whimper like a puppy being fucked by a big metal puppy-fucking machine. And they do exist, ‘cos my gran’s got one.

Jamie leaves.

INT. UN MEDITATION ROOM - DAY
Malcolm and Linton enter. We see Simon’s mints lying on the big stone in the middle of the room.

LINTON
Okay, so?

MALCOLM
So? You’re going to need to be a little more precise. “So, what about those Yankees?” “So long, suckers, I’m going to stab myself in the perineum.”
LINTON
So we’re down to the wire here, Mr Miracle Worker, what have you got for me? What intel have you rustled us up?

MALCOLM
Honestly? I haven’t got it. We need more time.

LINTON
You haven’t got it? Can you delay the vote to give you time to get it?

MALCOLM
No. I’ve had the vote brought forward.

Simon comes in to retrieve his mints.

SIMON
Just getting my mints.

LINTON
I am telling you to delay the vote and get me some new intel. Now.

MALCOLM
Okay, quick reality check, J Edgar Fucking Hoover. I don’t work for you. You don’t tell me what to fucking do.

LINTON
Well firstly, don’t raise your voice. This is a sacred space. You may not believe that, I may not believe that, but by God it’s a useful hypocrisy. And secondarily you do work for me. Your prime minister instructed you to work for me.

Malcolm glances at Simon.

MALCOLM
Get your mints and fuck off.

Simon stays where he is. Linton starts laughing. Toby enters, watches in amazement.

LINTON
The great Malcolm Tucker. One of your guys has leaked a paper, you can’t do anything. We tell you to get intel, you can’t do anything. I need the vote put back - you can’t do anything. You, sir, are a useless piece of ‘S’ star star ‘T’.

A beat.
MALCOLM
(quietly, to Toby)
What do you want?

TOBY
We’ve just heard -- the wall’s starting to collapse. A brick has fallen. That’s the news I’m getting.
More to follow. Both news and bricks.

Linton laughs again.

LINTON
Why don’t you deal with that Tucker? A wall is falling down, that’s more your level. I can see you with your shirt off and a wheelbarrow whistling a happy song.

Linton walks out.

SIMON
You’ve been working for him?

MALCOLM
It’s complicated, okay? I’ve been juggling a number of responsibilities.

Simon stares at Malcolm. He takes a mint and pops it in his mouth.

SIMON
Okay, well, right, after the vote, I resign.

MALCOLM
No you fucking don’t.

SIMON
I’ve behaved awfully, Malcolm. I’ve behaved, in a way, even worse than you. And you, obviously, are a terrible, terrible cunt.

MALCOLM
No, Simon, no. C’mon. I’m with you.

Malc is all sincerity -- maybe he does actually believe this?

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
I thought I might be able to stop the war if I got you to back it. The PM only listens to people who agree with him, and I thought if you agreed with him, then he might listen to you. Do you see?
SIMON
No, I don’t see. That’s nonsense Malcolm.

MALCOLM
Look. It’s too late now. Resigning. It’s not worth it. The horse has bolted. It’s out there getting shot now.

SIMON
I’ll see you later, Malcolm.

Simon exits.

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
(to Toby)
If you repeat this to anyone I will pull your leg off, break it in two and stab you to death with your broken shin bone. Now go away.

Toby leaves.

Malcolm sits down, head in his hands.

A GUY comes in.

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
I’m sorry, this room’s occupied.

GUY
I’ve just come to pray.

MALCOLM
Yeah, well I need this place to myself because I am waiting for very specific instructions from the omnipotent beardy upstairs. Oh, hang on, I’m getting something...He says tell that fucking bedwetter who's just come in to fuck right off or I will ram him all the way up my fat hairy fucking spacetime wormhole of an arse and then shit him out all over Canada.

The guy leaves. Malcolm sits down again to think.

INT. UN FUNCTION ROOM - SAME TIME

The delegates are still mingling. Toby is there now.

Toby’s phone goes. He answers.
TOBY
(into phone)
Suzy, how’s it going? Has Jamie been round? Right...

Liza comes over.

LIZA
This is you, isn’t it?

TOBY
(indicating himself)
This is me, yes. And that’s you. I thought we had this worked out.

SUZY (O.S.)
(on phone)
Is that the bunny boiler?

TOBY
(into phone)
Yes, that is Liza’s voice. But no, I’m not shagging her, she’s two feet away from me. It would be nice to think I’ve got a two-foot penis, but sadly, as we know, it’s only half that.

LIZA
My paper has made it into UK media. I’m taking calls from a show called ‘Newsnight’. They want an interview.

TOBY
It’s a good show Newsnight. You should do it, they’re very friendly. It’s like Oprah. But with a quieter audience.

(into phone)
Sorry Suze I’ve got an incoming call, I’ll ring back for a further bollocking.

LIZA
I’ve got something big lined up and you better not have fucked it up for me.

Liza leaves.

TOBY
(into phone)
Hello? Oh hi, Paul. How’s it going? No, yes, I know the wall is collapsing. I’m as frustrated as you are mate.
The Vice President starts to walk by. Toby sees him, wants to shake his hand.

TOBY (CONT’D)

Look, could I call you back Paul? It’s just the Vice President’s ... I couldn’t? No, okay, let’s keep talking...

The Vice President has gone.

Karen’s office is very quiet. Karen and ONE OR TWO AIDES in there. Karen is playing solitaire on her laptop.

Liza enters. Karen clicks out of solitaire.

KAREN

Liza can you get me a coffee?

LIZA

Er, no. I just came to say goodbye.

KAREN

Don’t tell me you’ve been drafted? They’re not sending you to fight?

LIZA

I’m going to work for Linton and Caulderwood running their Middle East Operations Executive.

KAREN

Excuse me?

LIZA

Yeah. Sorry. But they offered me the job.

KAREN

Just because they offered you the job doesn’t mean you have to take it. The homeless guy outside Taco Bell offers to put his wang in my ear every day, I don’t feel the need to accept, you know?

LIZA

I’m sorry Karen.

She heads out.
KAREN
(at a loss for what to say)
Have a nice war.

LIZA
Thanks.

INT. FOREIGN OFFICE - SAME TIME

Michael and Suzy in Michael’s office, classical music in the background. Michael’s clearing his desk, putting stuff in boxes. There are lots of CDs and a couple of bottles of expensive bottles of wine.

Jamie bursts in on Michael and Suzy, his phone still on.

JAMIE
Right, Frank and Nancy Sinatra. I’ve got good news. You’re not fired. That’s great news, isn’t it?

MICHAEL
That sounds ominous.

JAMIE
He’s fucking delighted.
(cancels phone)
We want to put Liza Weld’s Pwip Pip out there, properly. In the public domain. We just have to refine it a bit.

SUZY
Refine it?

JAMIE
Take out the cons, change the name of the main informant.

MICHAEL
Oh right, when you say ‘refine it’ you mean completely change it

JAMIE
It’s too long. No one’s going read it. We need a document that appeals to the MT-fucking V generation of skunk-numbed retards. We need to cut those cons. They’re very negative.

MICHAEL
That’s a complete fabrication.
JAMIE
Changing his name doesn’t make a difference. The main source in there he’s not really called Ice Man, is he?
“Mr and Mrs Man, you’ve got a son, Ice.” So we change it, to another name....

(refers to the music playing)
Who’s the fuck with the fiddle? The Fiddlefuck.

MICHAEL
This is Debussy, if that’s what you mean.

JAMIE
Okay, we’ll call him Debussy.

No.

JAMIE
And then you’ll make a couple of other changes. It’ll mean your fingerprints are on it, Mikey, but it’s the only way to save your job, you leaky fuck.

Michael is now scared of what he’s being asked to do.

MICHAEL
No, look, okay, really, I’m not up for this. I’m just, I didn’t leak it.
(to Suzy)
I’m sorry.

SUZY
I know you didn’t leak it. Jamie, he didn’t leak it.

JAMIE
Sorry love, that’s what I’ve been told. And I’m very trusting. Maybe too trusting. I tend to get hurt a lot you know.

MICHAEL
It wasn’t me, Jamie, alright? It wasn’t me. Don’t make me do this.
Someone else must have come in and used the fax machine.

JAMIE
What? Oh, that thing about your fax?
Don’t worry about that. I made that up. You’re doing this Michael, okay?
(MORE)
Cos if you do you're back on course for retirement. A wee cottage in Littlehampton. You can shuffle around in a tweed dressing gown pretending to like Debussy and getting pissed before lunchtime and sobbing all afternoon over collected works of TS cockbollocking Eliot and Phil the racist Larkin.

Michael looks at Suzy. She doesn’t know what to say or do.

JAMIE (CONT’D)
(grabbing Michael)
Come on Deuce Bigalow. You're coming with me.

He drags Michael out of the office.

INT. UN CORRIDOR - DAY

On the closed door of the Meditation Room. Malcolm suddenly bursts out, re-energised, ready for action. He’s in the middle of a call.

MALCOLM
Yeah, BBC newsdesk please. Malcolm Tucker. (BEAT) Ben? Hi, how you doing? Yeah, well, I’m hearing you’re preparing a story that we might not like.

One of the doors he pushes open has a coffee machine in it. Toby is there getting a coffee. Malcolm gestures to him to come along. Toby joins Malc in his jog through the corridors, spilling his coffee on his hands as he goes and scalding himself.

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
I just want to say please, this garden wall story, please don’t run with it. I mean, I know it’s juicy, it’s dynamite, it’s a lovely exploding satsuma but...
(beat, winks at Toby - you getting this?) Simon Foster’s constituency-office wall? You’ve got that haven’t you? I haven’t let the cat out of the bag? Shit. Look, my reputation will be in tatters if you run with...
(to Toby)
And he’s gone. Boo hoo. I’ve got a hard on.
TOBY
Can we stop running because my hands are really rather badly burned now.
They stop.

MALCOLM
I know it was you who put Pwip-Pip out there.

TOBY
Oh? Right.
(tries it out for size)
It wasn’t?

MALCOLM
Are you telling me it wasn’t you? Is that your proposition? Is that what you want to say if I ask them to fly you to Diego Garcia and slip a hood over your head and carry out a cavity search?

TOBY
(covering)
I don’t actually recall. It was a busy time.

MALCOLM
That’s more like it. So...you are now on probation. Okay? I am giving you a probationary period, which will last from today...until the end of recorded time. Do you understand?

TOBY
Yes.

MALCOLM
You’re my guy now. I own you now. You’re my Kunte Kinte. Go and get your laptop.

Toby goes. Sir Jonathan arrives.

SIR JONATHAN
Good, I’ve been looking for you. I needed to tell you that by a huge personal effort -- huge -- which has cost me my dignity and not a little respect among my peers, I have managed to bring the vote forward by an hour and a half.

MALCOLM
Great. I need it delayed now.
SIR JONATHAN
Very funny. That is funny.

MALCOLM
By an hour, at least. Although I guess two and a half hours now, as you’ve brought it forward.

SIR JONATHAN
No. Sorry, no.

MALCOLM
I’m sorry? Did you say ‘no’? No was not on the acceptable answers sheet for this question. I’m expecting intel.

SIR JONATHAN
No, I’m sorry I’m very sorry but I won’t humiliate myself again.

MALCOLM
The UK representative to the UN is refusing to do what the UK Government wants? I don’t know what happens now but I’ve got a feeling it involves a firing squad and sexual smear campaign.

SIR JONATHAN
You are not the UK Government Malcolm

MALCOLM
I’m as fucking good as, alright? So do what I say or you can go and see if Belize are looking for a new ambassador but with a broken nose, one bollock, and a half-chewed cock?

Malcolm gets very close to Sir Jonathan and gives him a terrifying stare.

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
Are you doing this or do I have to take you to the Meditation Room?

106 INT. UN CONFERENCE ROOM - DAY

Sir Jonathan walks in. A lot of faces are turned towards him, expectantly.

SIR JONATHAN
Right. What can I say? Spanner in the works our end.
Jamie has taken Michael into a tiny windowless office. Michael’s hunched at his laptop, looking at the Pwip-Pip document on his computer. Jamie stands right over him, ominously.

JAMIE
(to Michael re: the office)
This is nice isn’t it? Cosy. Away from prying eyes.

MICHAEL
So what’s this, your torture chamber?

Jamie’s phone goes.

INT. UN CORRIDOR/TINY OFFICE – DAY

Toby is standing in front of Malcolm, holding his laptop up for Malcolm to look at and a physical copy of the red Pwip-Pip folder. He’s also got the Pwip-Pip file on screen.

MALCOLM
Is it up, have you got it up?

JAMIE
Yeah it’s all fine.

MALCOLM
Okay, go to page nine, highlight that.

JAMIE
(to Michael)
Go to page nine.

Michael does.

MALCOLM
Highlight from that page to the end of the document.

JAMIE
Do you mean select?

MALCOLM
I don’t know I don’t use these things.

JAMIE
(to Michael)
Select page nine to the end of the document.
MICHAEL
The caveats?
Michael does it.

MALCOLM
Is it highlighted?

JAMIE
You mean selected, yeah it’s selected.

MALCOLM
Okay, right, standby ... delete!

JAMIE
(to Michael) Delete!

MICHAEL (subdued)
You can’t just delete the arguments against the war.

Michael stops what he’s doing.

MALCOLM
(to Toby)
Messenger! Get Messenger up!

Toby sticks Pwip-Pip in his mouth so he’s got a hand free to initiate MSN messenger.

JAMIE
Oh hang on Malc. Michael’s stopped moving. I think he’s crashed.

Malcolm types something on the laptop while Toby holds it up for him.

MALCOLM
Have you tried hitting him? Give him a thump, that usually works.

JAMIE
Hang on, I think I might be able to use manual over-ride.

Jamie picks up Michael's hand and pulls out his index finger and places it on the delete key.

JAMIE (CONT'D)
No, it's okay. It's working again.

MALCOLM
Great. Now attach that to email.
JAMIE
(to Michael)
Attach that to an email.

An alert goes on Michael's MSN Messenger.

JAMIE (CONT'D)
Oh look you've got a friend online. Is it a lady friend?

MICHAEL
It's Malcolm.

JAMIE
What's he saying?

MICHAEL
I'm not repeating it.

Jamie reads it off the screen and laughs.

JAMIE
That's terrible Malc. I feel sorry for him now.

MALCOLM
Is he crying?

JAMIE
No. Brave soldier. So where's this going?

MALCOLM
Send it to Toby Wright

TOBY
No!

MALCOLM
Yes! Has it gone?

JAMIE
Yeah we put a little red flag on it and everything.

MALCOLM
(to Toby)
Is it here?

TOBY
(looking at his email)
If the subject heading is 'Smoking Fucking Gun You Cunt' then yes.
INT. UN CORRIDOR – DAY

Malcolm approaches Toby.

MALCOLM
Get me a blue folder.

TOBY
Where from?

MALCOLM

Toby runs off.

INT. LINTON’S UN OFFICE – DAY

Malcolm walks in. He holds up his blue folder.

MALCOLM
The intelligence your guys couldn’t find? I think you owe me a massive, grovelling apology.

LINTON

MALCOLM
It’s been a pleasure working with you, Dr Strangelove.

gives him the folder with a smile

I say pleasure. I mean poisonous fucking arseache. Shit, I’ve met some psychos in my time, but none as fucking BORING as you. You know that Conspiracy theory? That the world is controlled by giant lizards disguised as people? Maybe you’re a giant lizard disguised as a boring fuck. Oh sorry, that’s right. You disapprove of swearing. A boring F star star CUNT!

Malcolm hands over the folder and walks out!.
The mood is quietly buzzy. Job well done. Liza is there too.

LINTON
We did it Bob!

BOB ADRIANO
Yes sir! There were moments when it was a little hairy ...

LINTON
No there weren't, no.

They shake hands with various colleagues.

Karen enters. Chad is there too with General Miller.

KAREN
So, I emailed it ten minutes ago.
(to Chad)
Sorry Chad, you’re out of a job again. I’ve resigned.

CHAD
Oh you sssshhhh ...
(trails off, realising who he’s talking to)

KAREN
So mine hits the wires now, yours should come right after the President’s announcement, to have the biggest media impact.

GENERAL MILLER
I’ve been thinking Karen.

KAREN
I mean I guess if you hurry we could go together – but I really think after is better ...

GENERAL MILLER
Karen, I’ve got to tell you something. This has been the hardest fucking decision of my political life.

KAREN
(she looks at him, sees what’s coming)
You’re not resigning?
(MORE)
What the fuck George. Seriously? Have you thought this through.

GENERAL MILLER
Of course I fucking have, I’ve sent soldiers into warzones and given it less thought than this.

KAREN
Well of course you have. That was just kids, whereas this is your career we’re talking about.

CHAD
That is harsh. That’s very harsh Miss Clark.

GENERAL MILLER
(without looking at him)
Gee, thanks for your support, Son of Fucking Rambow.

KAREN
You said that the war was intolerable and we’d go together.

GENERAL MILLER
It is – it is intolerable. I still agree with myself about that. But I’ve got to tolerate it. My loyalty is with the kids. At the end of the day I’m a soldier.

KAREN
You’re not a soldier.

GENERAL MILLER
Look at the uniform, Karen. I’m not a pastry chef. I’m not Miss World. I don’t stack shelves at Wal-Mart. I have military commendations on my chest, not a little fucking label saying My Name Is George.

KAREN
You’re a politician. You live on canapes and white wine and you have three anecdotes you wheel out at every party and you scour the national papers for mentions of your name. You’re a fucking politician.

GENERAL MILLER
I’m still a soldier.

KAREN
When was the last time you shot a guy?
GENERAL MILLER
What, if I haven’t shot a guy in 15 years then I’m not a soldier? City hall don’t insist I bring along a fucking bullet-ridden corpse every five years to renew my soldier licence.

KAREN
You know this is an unnecessary war. It’s a war you don’t believe in. Show me some balls, George.

GENERAL MILLER
I know I’ve got balls, I don’t need to show them to you.

KAREN
Oh sure, It just so happens they’re sitting pretty in a pair of Egyptian cotton Ralph Lauren shorts on a Government salary.

GENERAL MILLER
Don’t talk about my fucking balls that way. My balls have been around. My balls have got balls.

KAREN
Come on Chad, let’s leave the General and his over-stuffed scrotum. We’re going to draft our resignation announcements.

Karen turns away from him.

CHAD
Er, I might, stay with the General actually Karen, if that’s okay? If he’s staying I might stay with him and see what assistance I can furnish.

KAREN
Okay, fuck you. General Shrek and his faithful talking donkey.

She goes.

GENERAL MILLER
This takes balls Karen.

CHAD
You’ve got balls Sir. Anyone can see you’ve got big balls.
GENERAL MILLER
Get the fuck away from me and don’t ever talk about my balls you elongated retard.

Miller walks off.

CHAD
Okay. This was not the plan.

INT. UN COFFEE SHOP. DAY.
Malcolm catches up with Simon.

MALCOLM
Simon, look, mate. Listen to me. You still don’t need to resign.

SIMON
I do. I’m going to resign, Malcolm. In an hour. You can’t stop me now.

Toby comes over.

TOBY Boss?

Yes?

MALCOLM
Yes?

TOBY (CONT’D)
It’s on the BBC News website -- Partial collapse of the wall. Mrs Michaelson’s greenhouse has a smashed pane. The BBC had a crew down there.

SIMON
God, and that’s NEWS. Ridiculous, isn’t it?

MALCOLM
It’s nor Ridiculous. You’re fired.

SIMON
What?

MALCOLM
The wall. It’s just not tolerable.

SIMON
It’s just a fucking wall.

MALCOLM
Look at this. (clicks his fingers at Toby) (MORE)
MALCOLM (CONT'D)
Give me the paper.
(off Simon's look)
He's my new boy. I'm just breaking him in.

TOBY Here.

MALCOLM
The Telegraph has a cartoon of you crushed underneath the Great Wall Of China, suggesting you are the only political fuck-up visible from space. Look at this. No one could survive this. The PM is very clear on this - you're sacked, over the wall.

SIMON
No.

MALCOLM
Yes.

SIMON
You haven't even - spoken to the Prime Minister.

MALCOLM
Yes I have.

SIMON
You fucking haven't I've been right here.

MALCOLM
I have spoken to the Prime Minister. Whether it has happened or not is irrelevant. It is true. As soon as I heard about the wall, I spoke to him and he decided you had to go.

SIMON
I'm not going quietly.

MALCOLM
Yeah well if you try to turn this into some anti-war protest, you can expect your 'mountain of conflict' soundbite to be everywhere from ringtones to a fucking dance mix on YouTube. I will marshall all the forces of media darkness to hound you to an assisted suicide. And you will be remembered as a mincing, spineless, two-faced opportunist cock-swallowing warmonger.

A silence while Simon and Toby realise there is nowhere for him to go.
MALCOLM (CONT'D)
Right, Rumpleforeskin’s give me your laptop, so -- shall we draft your ‘Dear Prime Minister, just a quick note to say thanks for sacking me’ letter?

Simon doesn’t know what else to do. He follows Malcolm out.

Toby sees Miller is having a cigarette under a no-smoking sign.

TOBY
Hi. General? Look I realise this is a slightly strange time to say this, but I just want to say how much I admire...

GENERAL MILLER
Fuck off, Frodo.

TOBY
You fuck off.

Toby hurries off looking crushed. Miller takes another drag on his cigarette.

OVER CREDITS

EXT. UN BUILDING - DAY
Karen walks towards the sidewalk. She’s expecting to see her car, it's not there. She dials.

KAREN
Hi I'm just wondering where the car is? Well yes, I did. So, it's that automatic is it? It is. I see. I'll get a taxi then.

Karen tries to hail a cab, then has second thoughts. She crosses the road to the dentist on the other side.

INT. STATE DEPARTMENT. DAY
Linton is going through a list with Liza. General Miller is sitting in on this meeting, looking slightly like a man who’s being shafted up the ass and having to pretend to enjoy it.
LINTON
Okay, I don’t want to be accused of micro managing but I personally do not see that ‘I heart Huckabees’ should be on the list of dvds suitable for forces entertainment. That self-indulgent crap is not suitable entertainment for combat troops. And where’s ‘United 93’ on here? That should be playing 24/7.

INT. CONSTITUENCY OFFICE. DAY.
Simon is back with Roz.

ROZ
Right, I’ve got a selection of quotes for you, they’re all local firms and none of them is very well respected. Everyone’s using Poles, but if you do it could be a PR disaster.
(gets another piece of paper out)
Now, this sceptic tank is also rearing it’s pooy head again too.

Simon looks zonked with boredom.

INT. WHITE HOUSE
A.J.
Well Alan, I have been balled out by Linton for allowing I Heart Huckabees on to the troops DVD roster. You know the phrase, “I’m too old for this shit? Well, I’m too young for this shit. I should be out there having a youth. Getting high, making women pregnant. Not that obviously. But something fun. Actually, not fun, it would need to be stimulating. Like cancer research. Or working for Apple.

INT. DFID - DAY
Malcolm is walking through the open-plan office with Judy.

MALCOLM
Any news about Michael?

JUDY
No, no-one’s heard from him for a few days now.
MALCOLM
You worried?

JUDY
(yes)
I don’t know. Probably just keeping his head down.

MALCOLM
So the rumours are true. Who’s the lucky guy?
(then)
When’s the new minister and her guy getting here?

JUDY
Should be here now, actually.

MALCOLM
Yeah, should be here. Should be here.

In the background we see Toby getting the last of his things together.

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
I like you, you know, Judy.

JUDY
Ha.

MALCOLM
Seriously, I do. I misjudged you. I’m sorry if I might have been a little rude to you.

JUDY
Right. A little rude.

MALCOLM
You get on with it. Business as usual. And you’re true to yourself. You and me, we’re very similar.

JUDY
Please, please don’t ever say that again.

MALCOLM
It’s true. Very similar. So, listen, I need someone good with me on this Brussels bun fight ...

The NEW MINISTER and her ADVISOR arrive. They are almost carbon copies of Simon and Toby.

MALCOLM (CONT’D)
So, can I rely on you for Brussels?
JUDY
Malcolm, go take a running fuck.

MALCOLM
You didn't say no!
(a beat)
Ah, here they are. Minister. Elizabeth. Welcome aboard.

MINISTER
Thanks Malcolm. Looking forward to it. War seems to be going 'great guns' at the moment.

MALCOLM
Ah, cheeky! Let me take you out for an expensive lunch, roast swan and all the trimmings, and I'll bring you up to speed on the whole Middle East situation.

MINISTER
Are you twisting my arm already?

MALCOLM
Aye, but in a friendly, non-breaky way.

ADVISOR
(to Judy)
Hi I’m Danny. Dan. I’m Elizabeth’s chief advisor.

JUDY
Judy Molloy. Senior Press -

ADVISOR
Have I got a desk?

JUDY
Yes, it’s that one there.

She points at Toby’s desk. The Minister and his advisor start making themselves at home.

We stay on Toby now as Malcolm and Judy greet the new guys. Toby grabs the last of his things, glances over at them, and them we follow him as he heads down the front steps.